THE WILDCAT 1968

Springfield South
High School

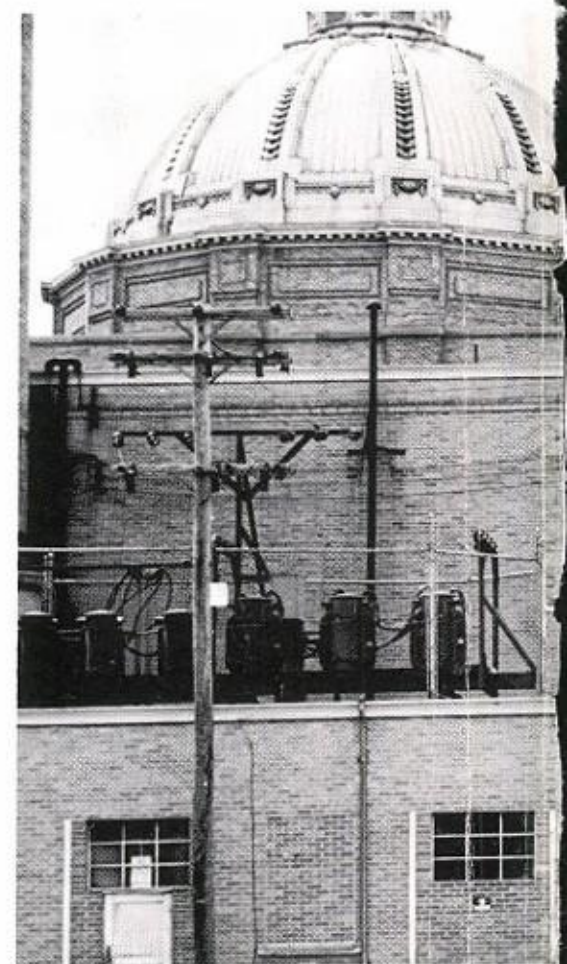

Springfield, Ohio
Volume LXIII

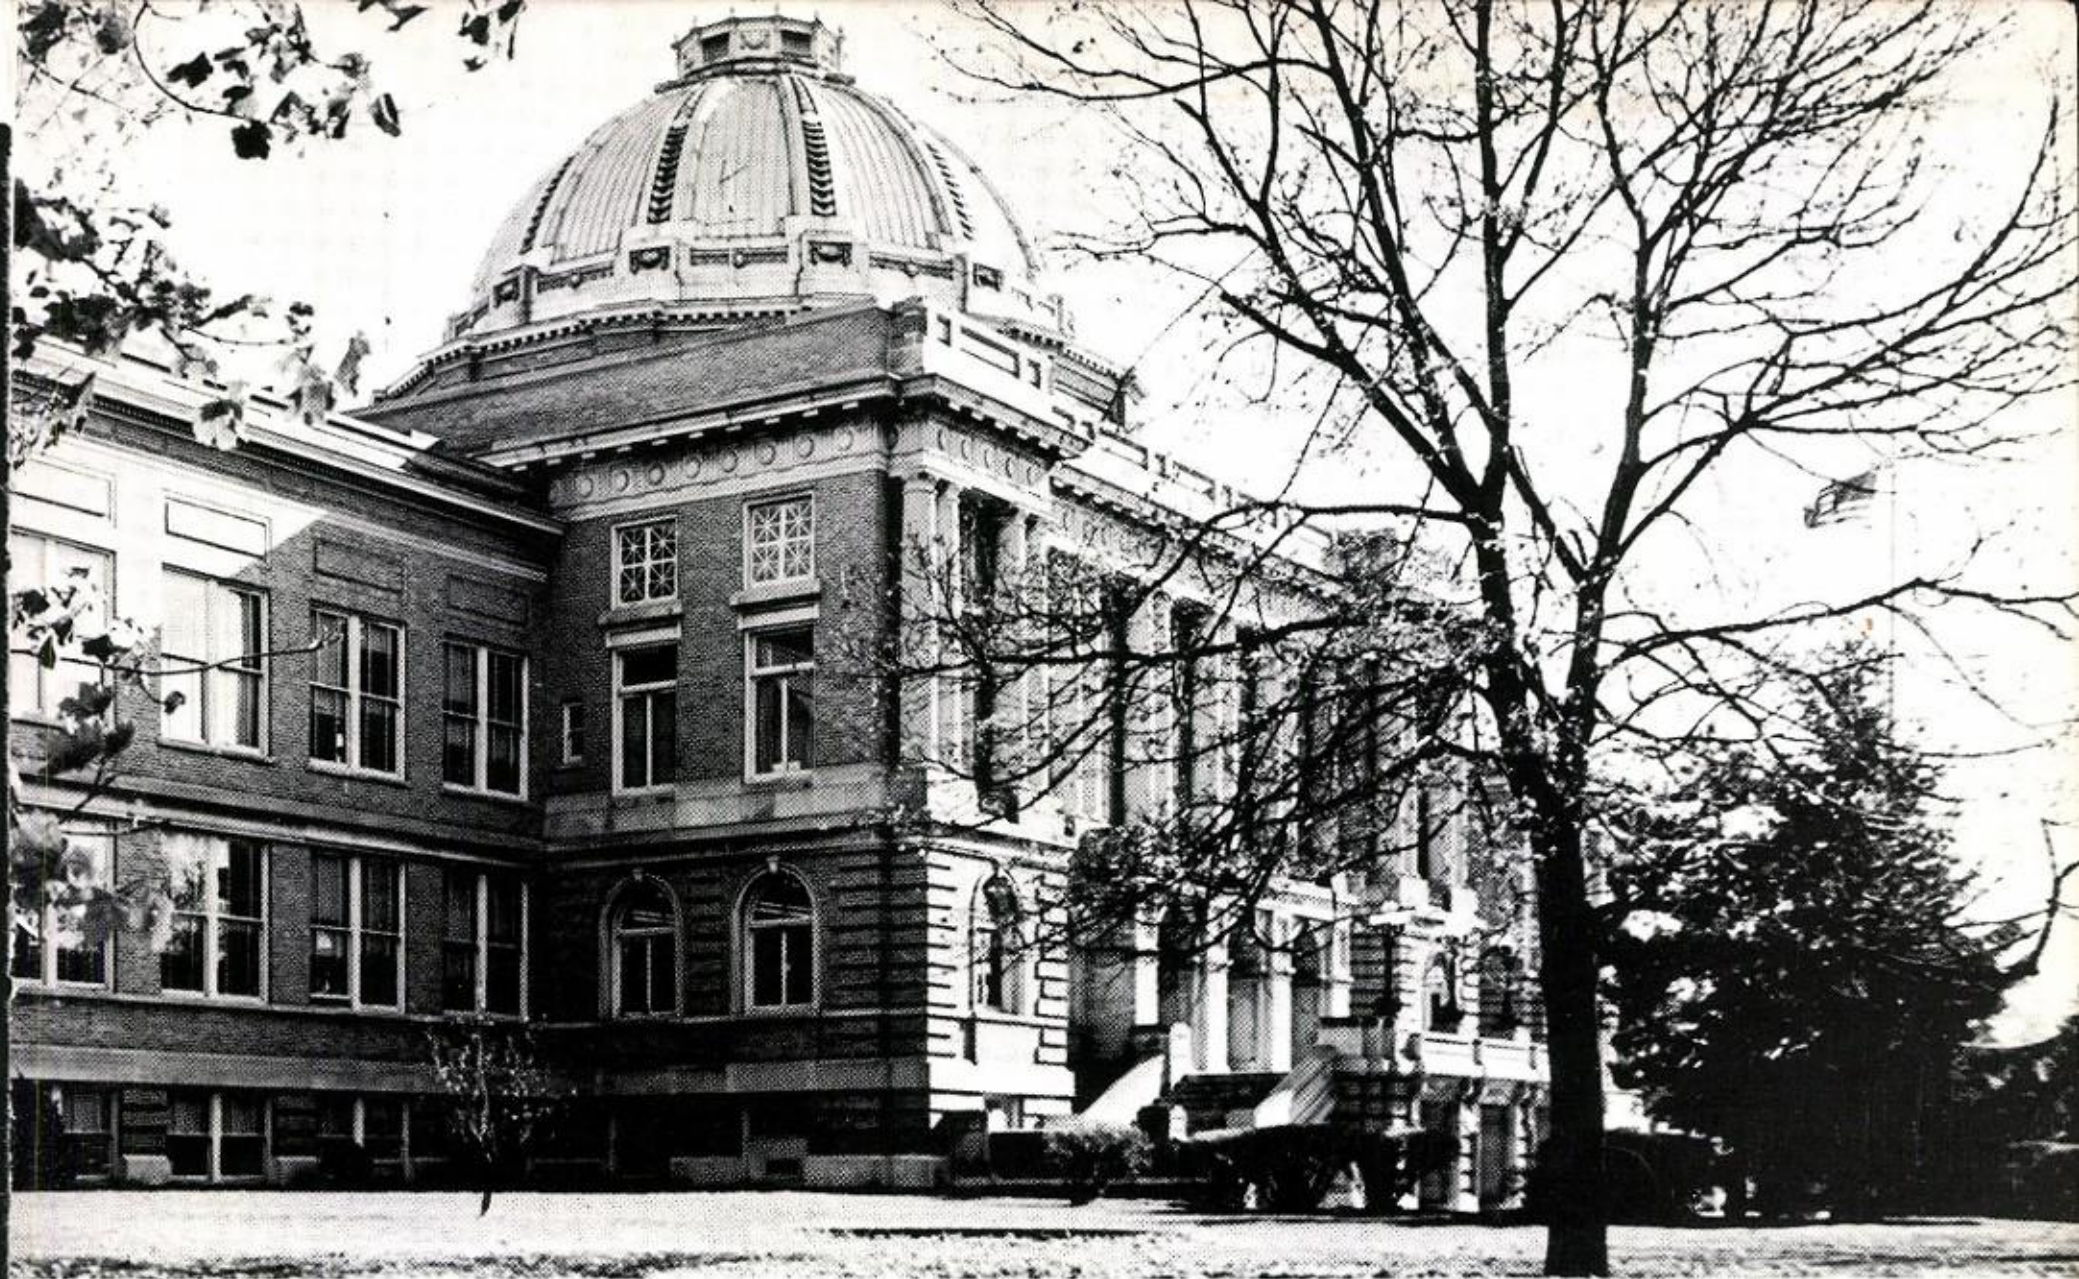

Try To Remember
The Kind Of September —
When Grass
Was Green . . .

Lucretia Cole and Mike Gaines rest between studies on the front lawn.

Autumn brings sparks of color and beauty to South High School.

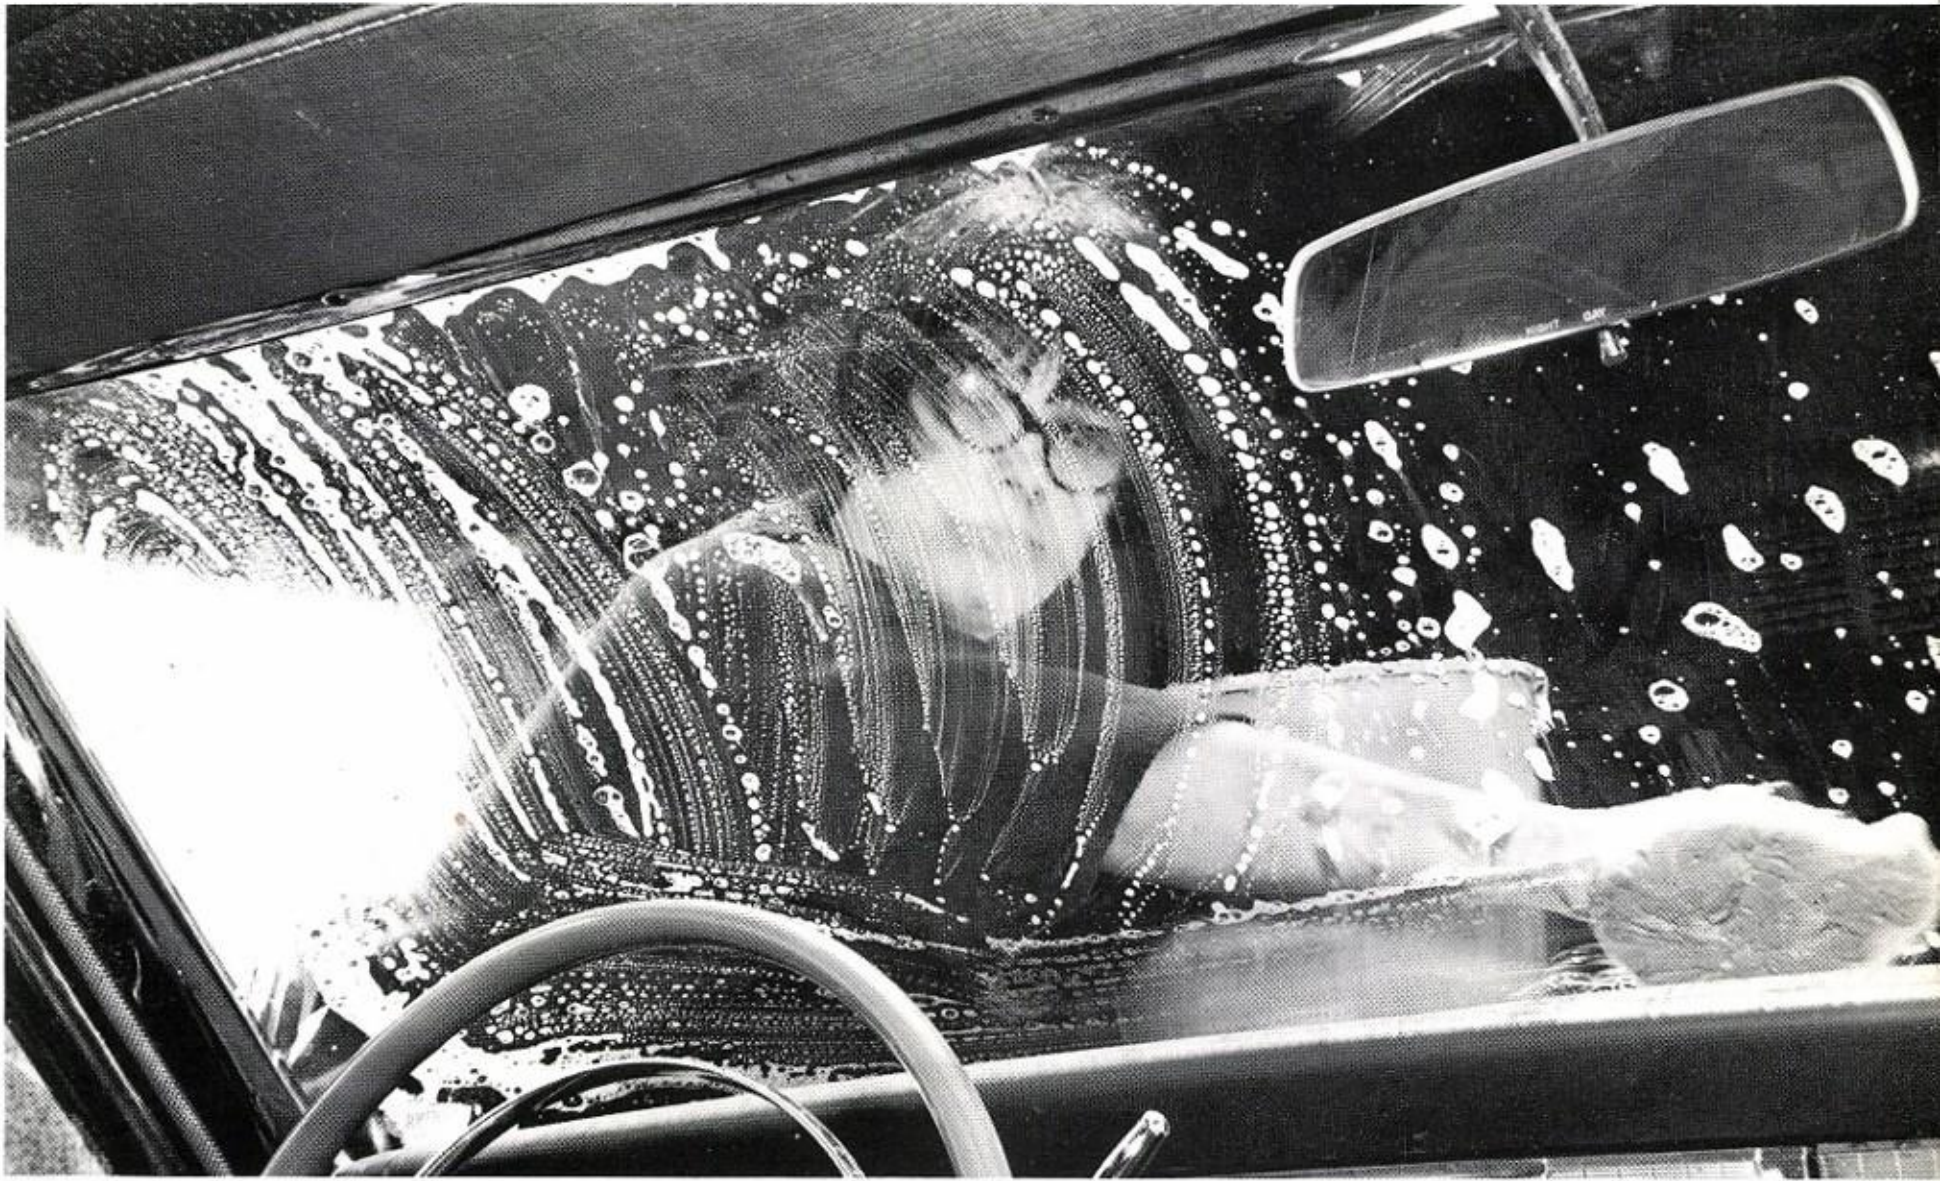

. . . And Grain
Was Yellow

This side of South is perhaps more familiar to all teachers and some students.

When Life Was Slow . . .

Dan Scott doesn't seem to be bothered by the fast pace of South High.

Kirby Kellar works industriously to please her customer at the student council car wash.

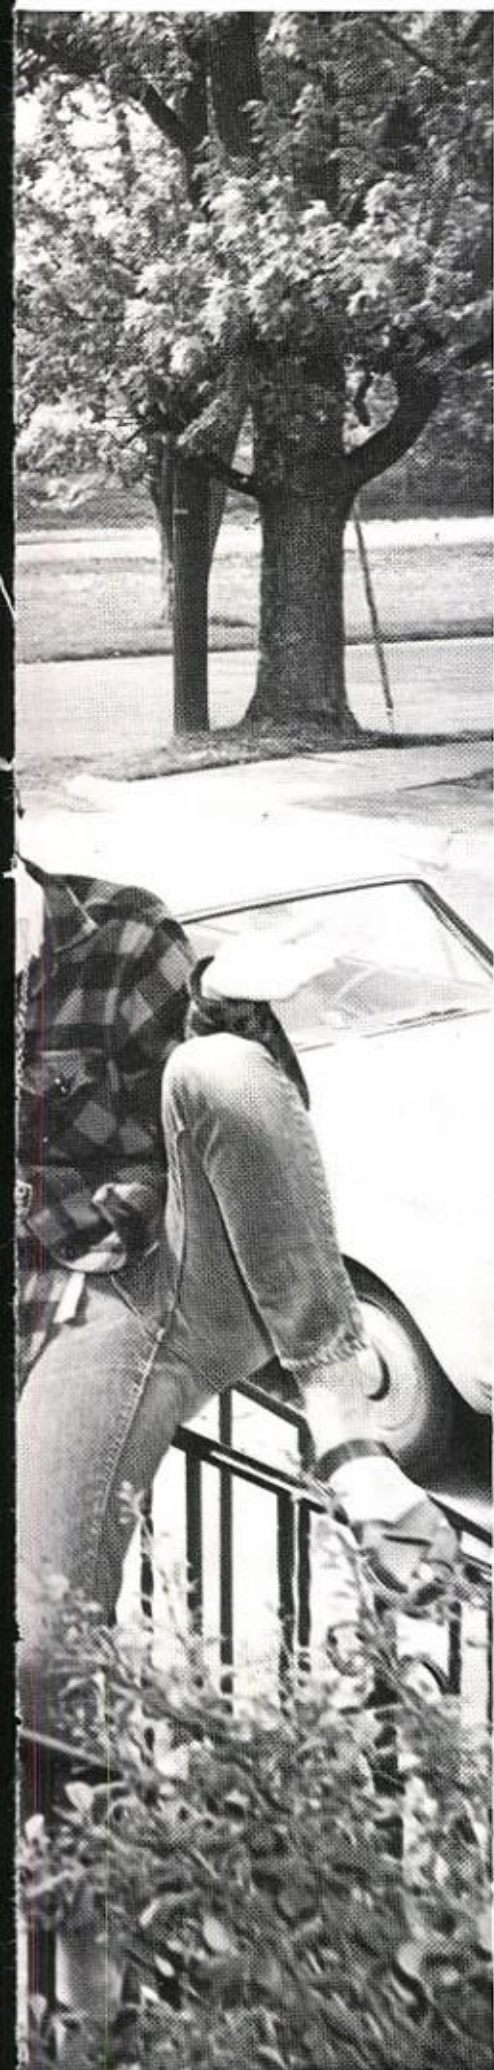

And Oh So Mellow

At the end of her busy day, Mrs. Snodgrass carefully makes a last-minute check of her daily attendance.

In Dear Me, The Sky Is Falling, Diane Myers has a difficult choice between Alan George and Larry McClure.

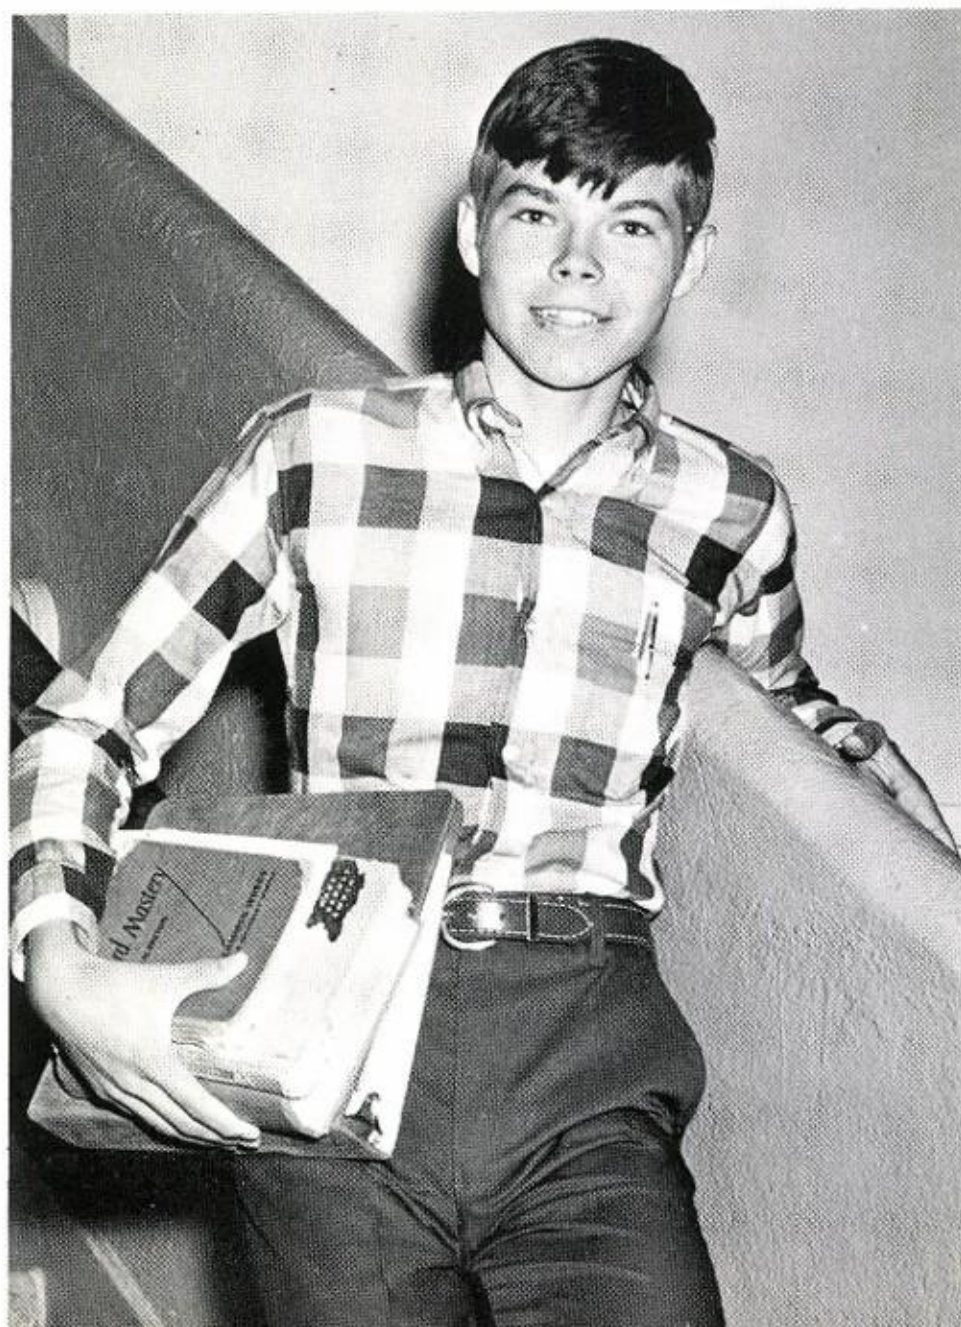

When You Were A Callow . . .

Does Tim Flannery's smile show a little embarrassment as Mr. Kern calmly asks for his identification card?

And Tender Fellow

Kim Falkner takes the easy way downstairs.

The "Hawaiian Luau" was performed by the 1968 Gymkana Troupe in a colorful and spectacular array.

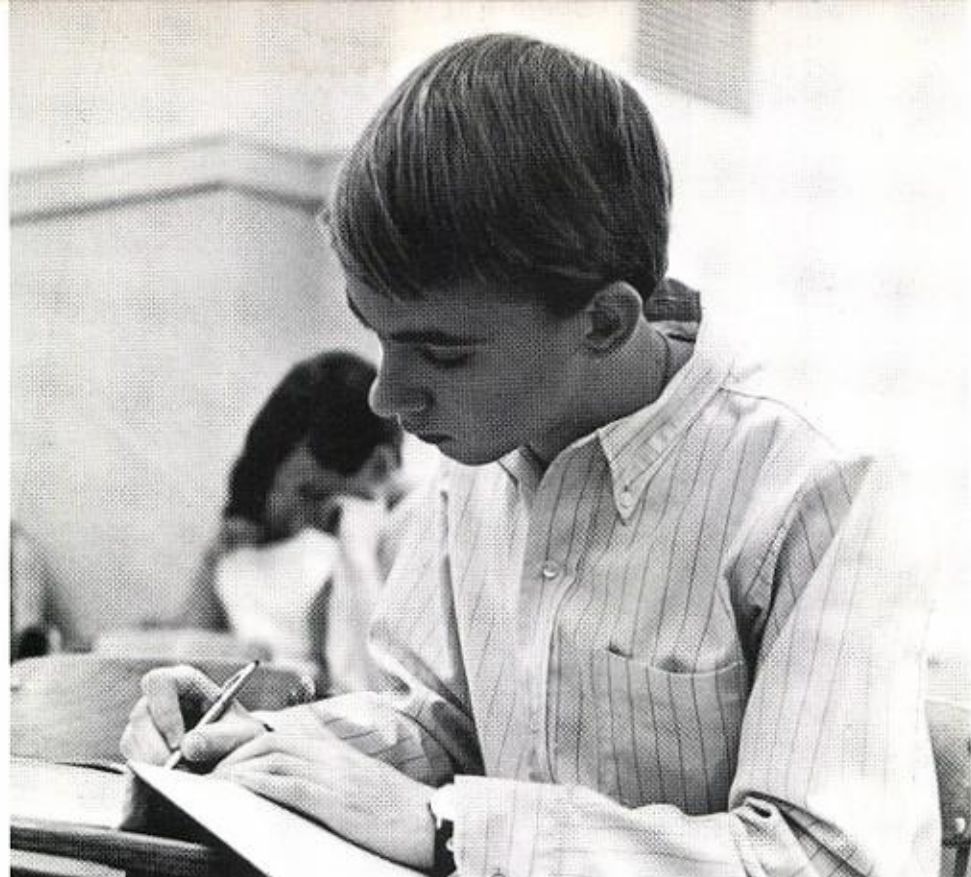

Try To Remember, And If You

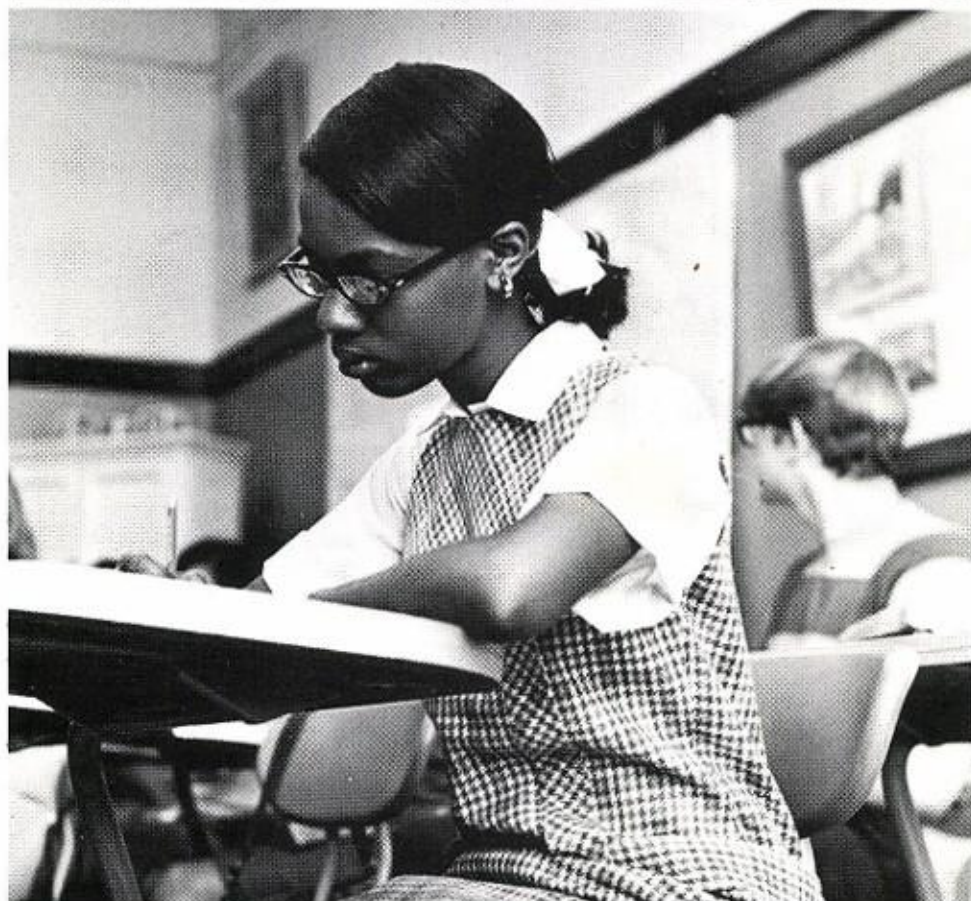

Steve Clingman and Sue Stiles find warmth and companionship inside their VW on a cold winter's day.

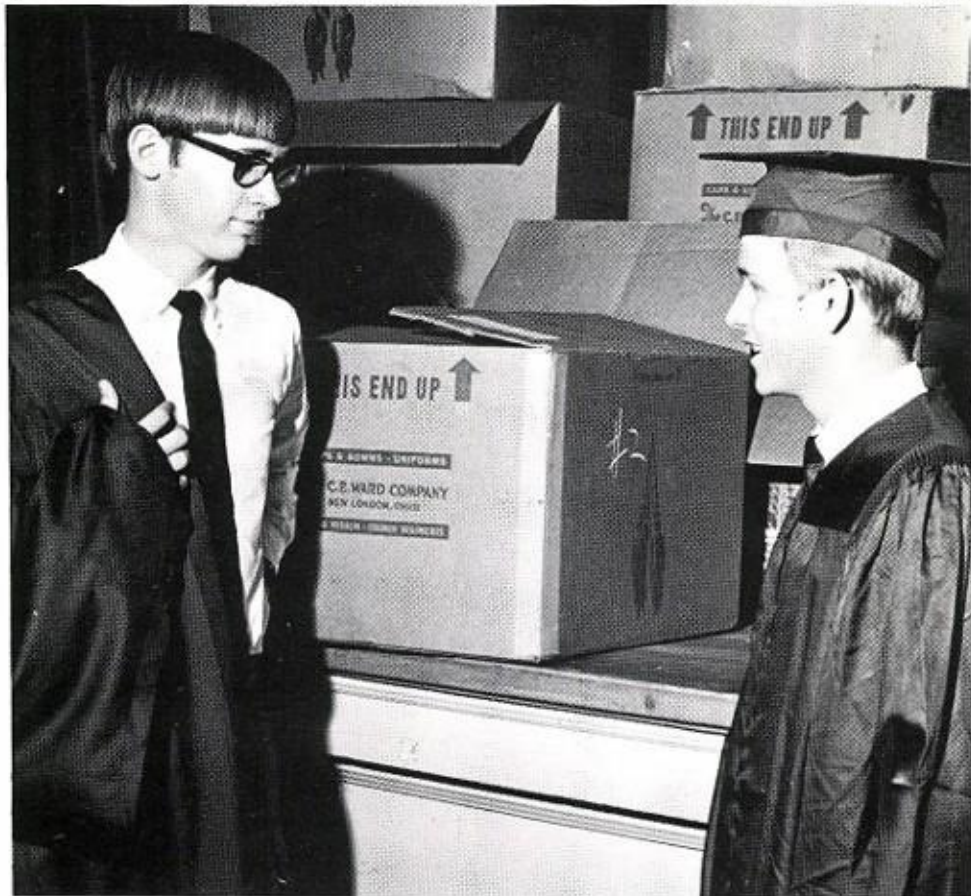

One sophomore boy finds that filling out book cards is a necessary evil.

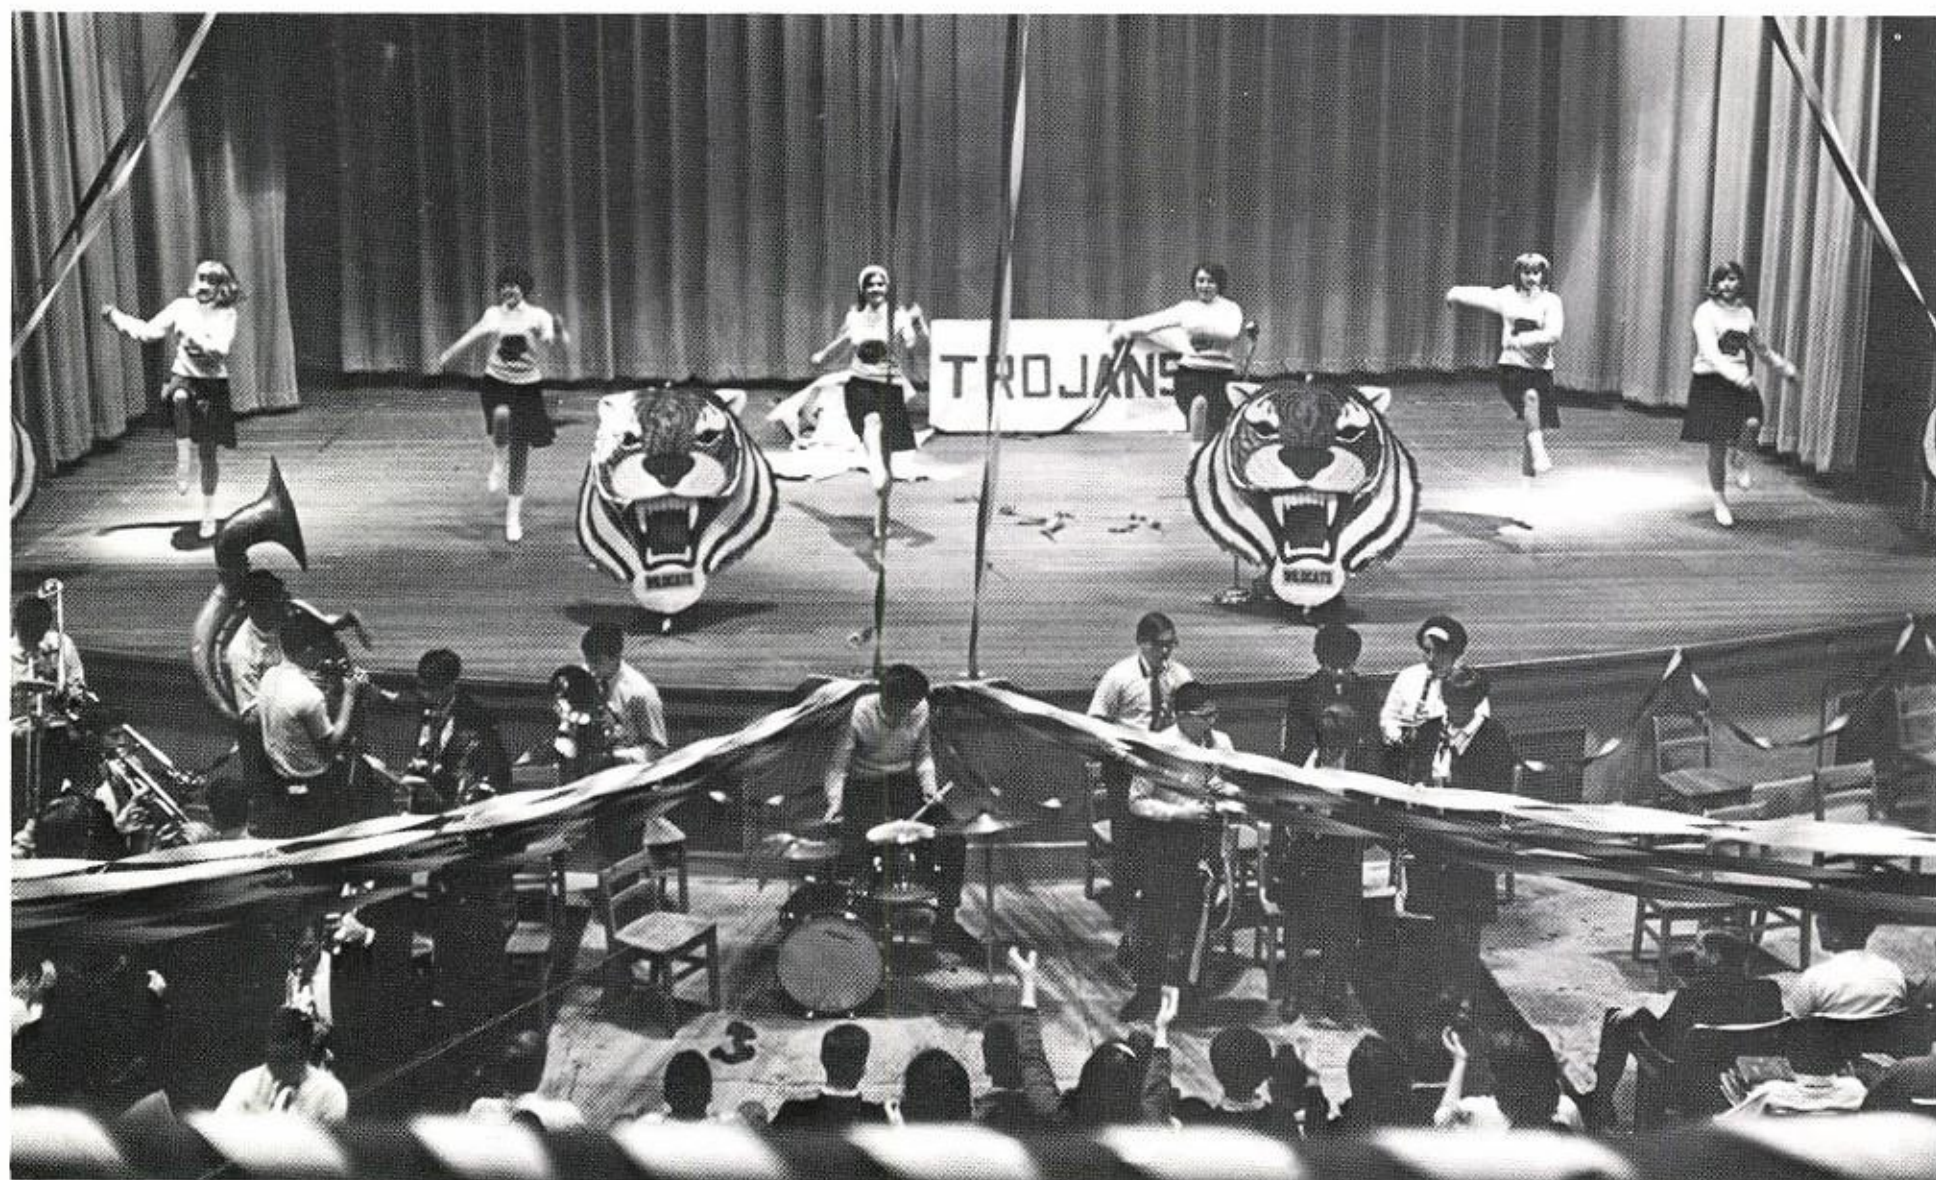

Stephanie Robinson goes through the almost weekly chore of taking a test.

Remember . . .
Then Follow . . .

The arrival of caps and gowns signifies the approaching commencement exercises for seniors Jay Graves and Chuck Schwartz.

The cheerleaders and pep band enthusiastically boosted the students' school spirit.

Coach Wiseman gives a few words of encouragement as a big game draws near.

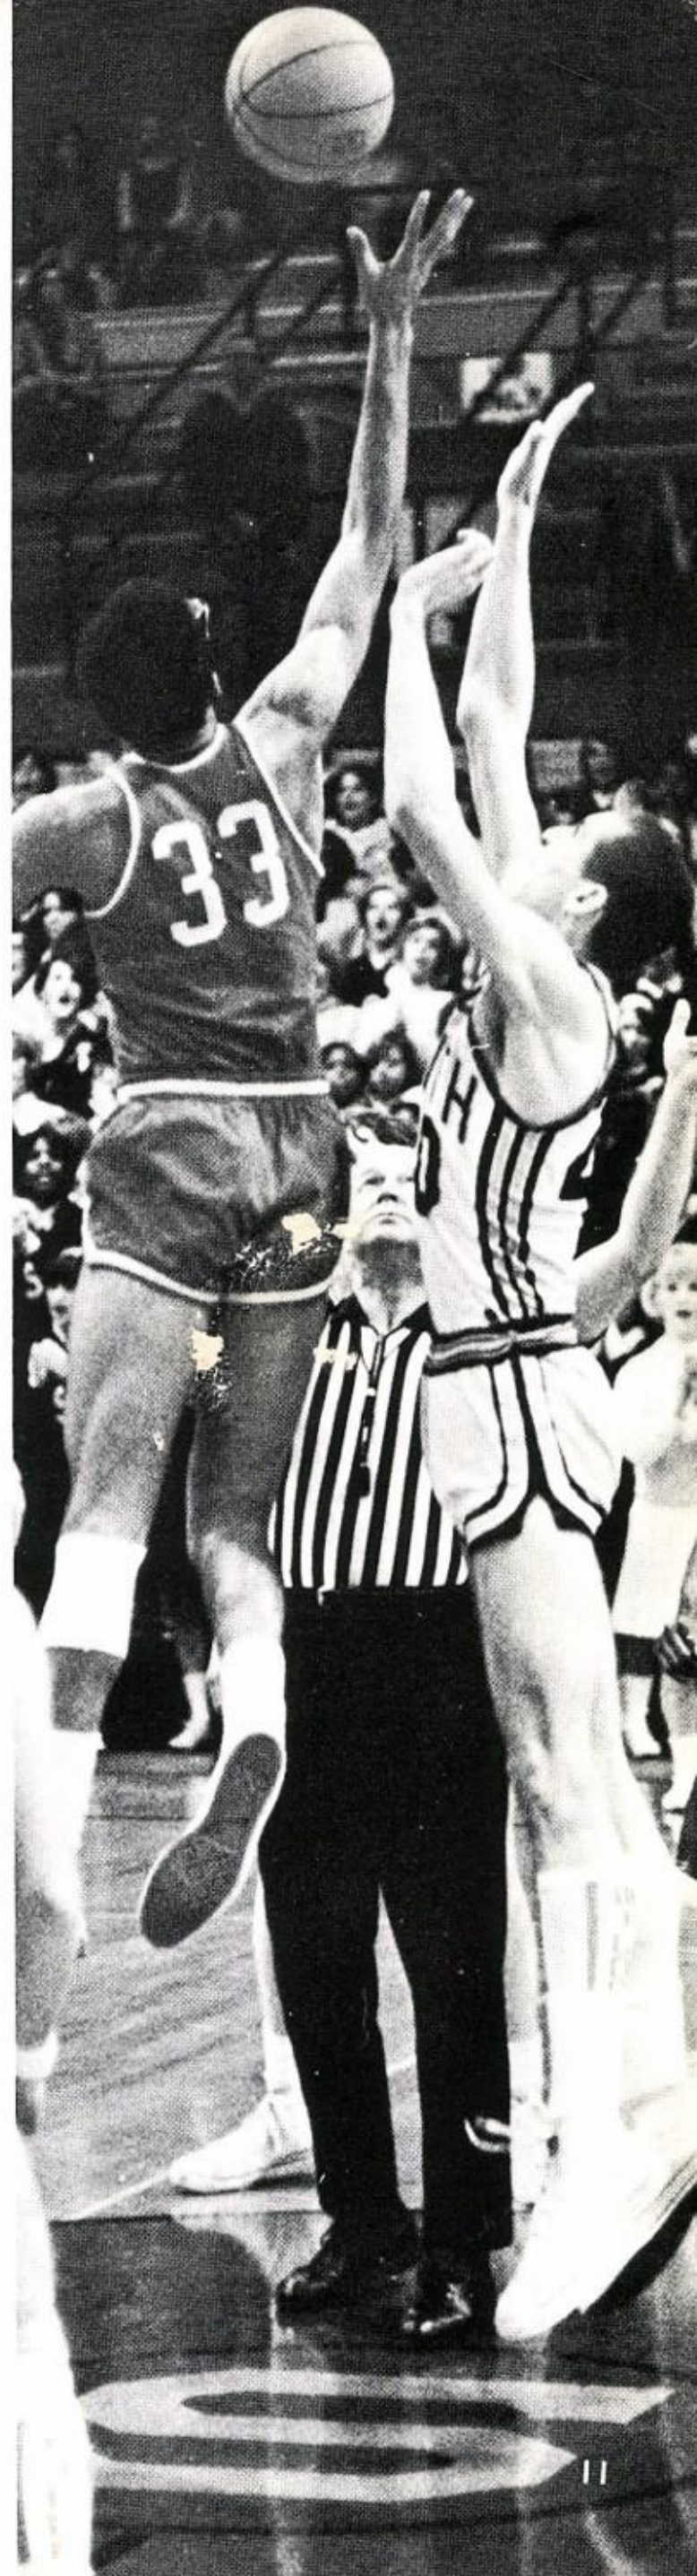

Remember
The Pep Rally . . .

And The Game Last Friday?

Dave Burley successfully outjumps a North player in the opening minutes of an important intra-city game.

Mike Claypool, Sue Billiter, Jackie Keener and Ed Steiner seem to be enchanted with the oriental atmosphere of the Junior-Senior Prom.

Queens Lynn Jackson, Frankie Anderson, and Debbie Adkins discuss with their escorts the success of the 1967 Homecoming Dance.

Remember The Biggest Dances Of The Year?

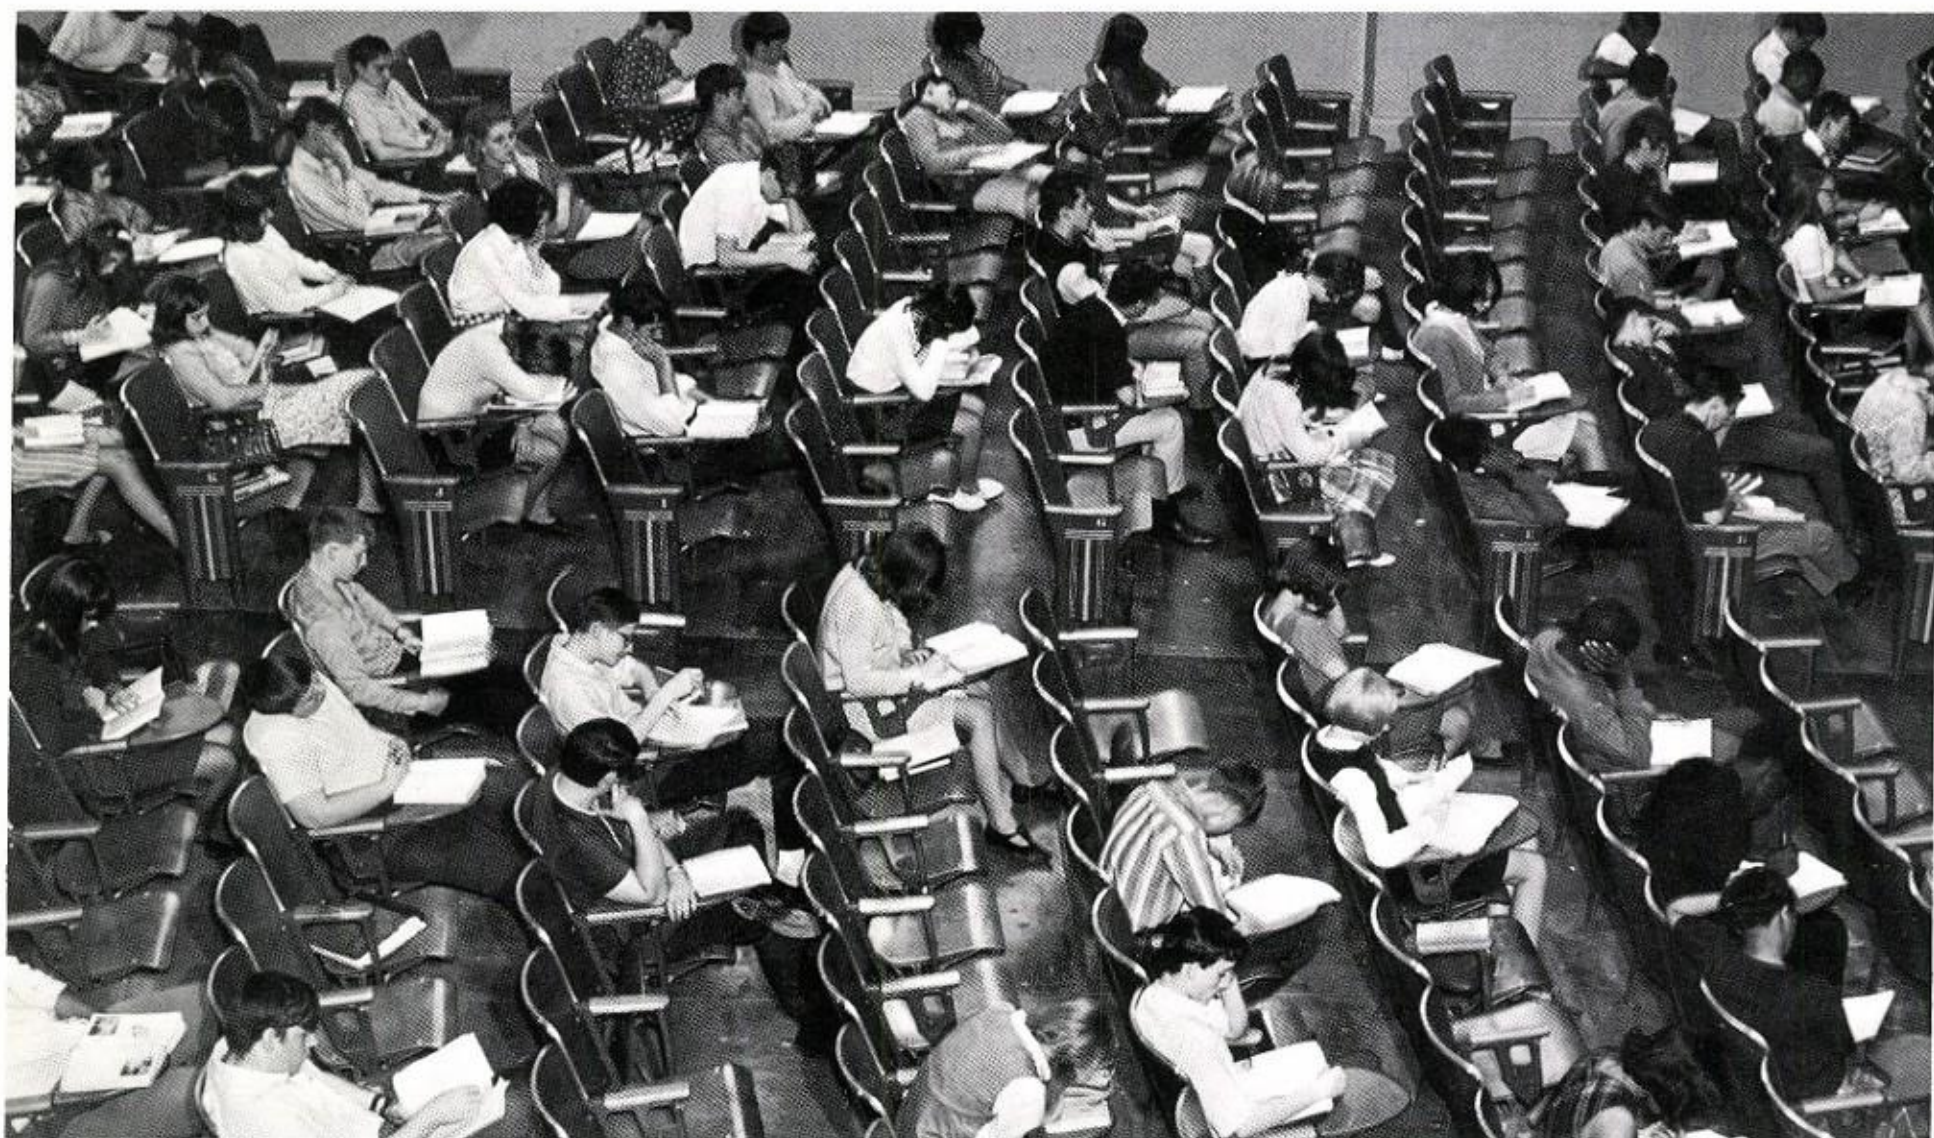

Julie Cutshall and Vicki Botkin are begging their dates, John Hursh and Larry Hackett for their prizes for winning in the best costume category at Sadie Hawkins.

Remember The Monday Mornings

Bruce Hunter carefully does his chemistry experiment as Jim Butler completes his lab book.

Studying and sleeping seem to be the favorite pastimes of these students who have a Monday morning study hall.

Students hurry home as soon as the 2:54 bell rings.

Is Mr. Wright really that eager to get home?

And The Friday
Afternoons

Resplendent in brand new uniforms, the marching band participates in Springfield's annual Memorial Day parade.

MR. F. V. LEHN,
Principal.

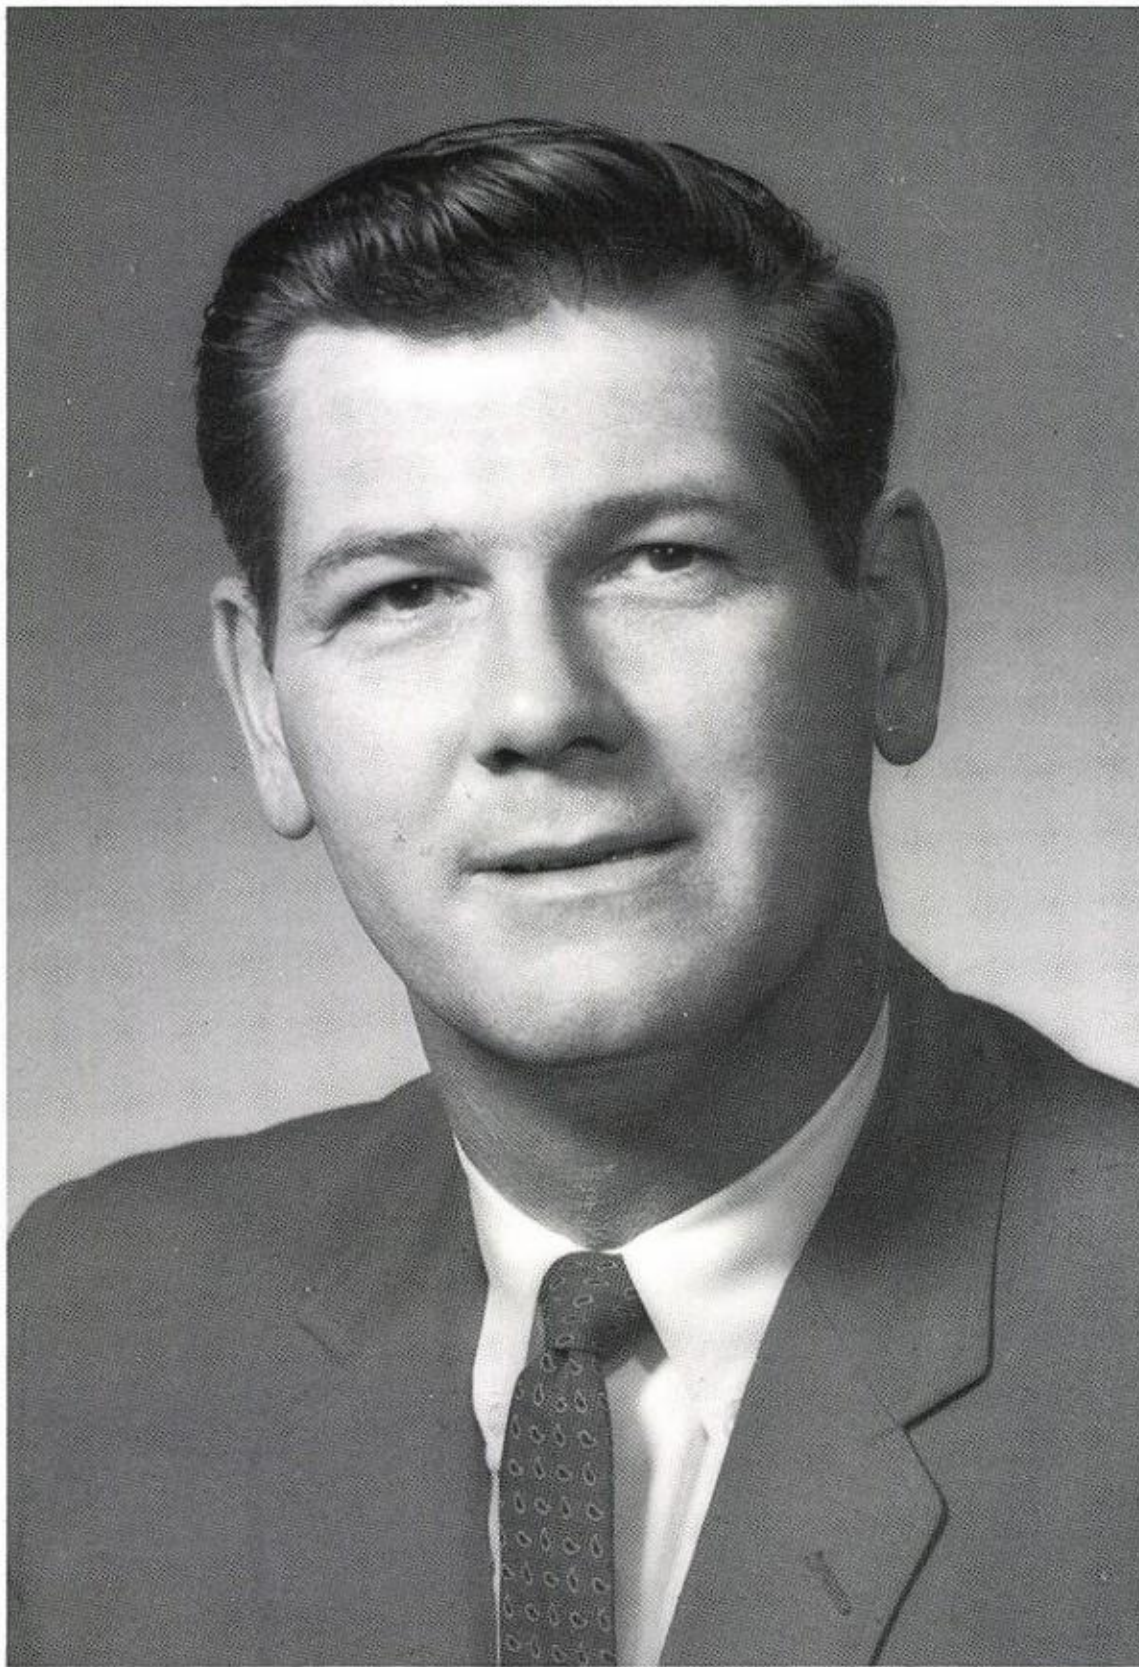

Mr. Lehn communicates by a two-way radio used to co-ordinate activities in the building and on campus.

Administrators Work Hard To Keep School Going

Franklin V. Lehn has been principal of South for four years. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Mount Union College and his Master of Arts degree at Ohio State University. Mr. Lehn has served as Superintendent of Schools of Champaign County and as principal of two schools before coming to Springfield South.

John B. Wright has been assistant principal for five years. He received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degrees from Wittenberg University. Mr. Wright taught at Hayward Junior High School before coming to South.

MR. J. B. WRIGHT,
Assistant Principal.

Mr. Wright takes a break in his work to answer a question.

The members of the Board of Education are, SEATED: Douglas E. Gardner, Fred T. Wilson, Robert L. Keck, president; Mrs. Harriet Levine, vice-president; John O. Harper. STANDING: William Stewart, business manager; Paul G. Gunnett, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Elaine Zimmeck, clerk-treasurer; Robert H. Lehman, assistant superintendent; and D. F. Ackerman, personnel director.

Administrators Head City Schools

The school board has many responsibilities to the school system. One of these is establishing the broad policies under which the system operates. The board makes many decisions during the school year.

A new member of the board this year is Douglas Gardner, who has taken the place of Dr. Max Graves, who did not seek re-election.

Mr. Paul Gunnett has served as superintendent of the city schools for 11 years.

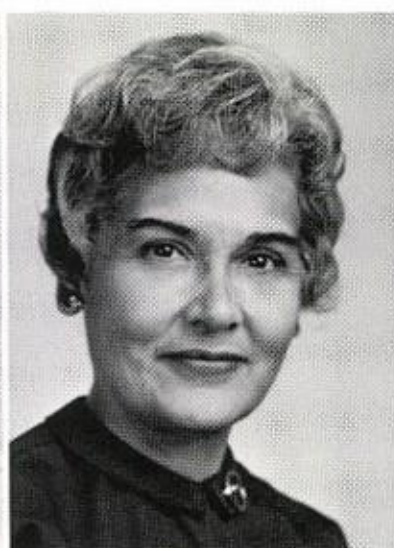

Mr. Wright appreciates the helpful assistance of the secretaries: Mrs. Pfancuff, Mrs. MacBeth, and Mrs. Clifton.

Work Is Never Finished for South High Secretaries

Secretaries contribute much to the efficiency of South High School. Their work is very important to both faculty and students. Their jobs consist of typing, mimeographing, filing reports and records, and preparing the daily bulletin. They also help the principal and assistant principal. As one can see, the work of these secretaries is never finished.

Ruth Mowell, B.A., M.Ed.
Sophomore Girls

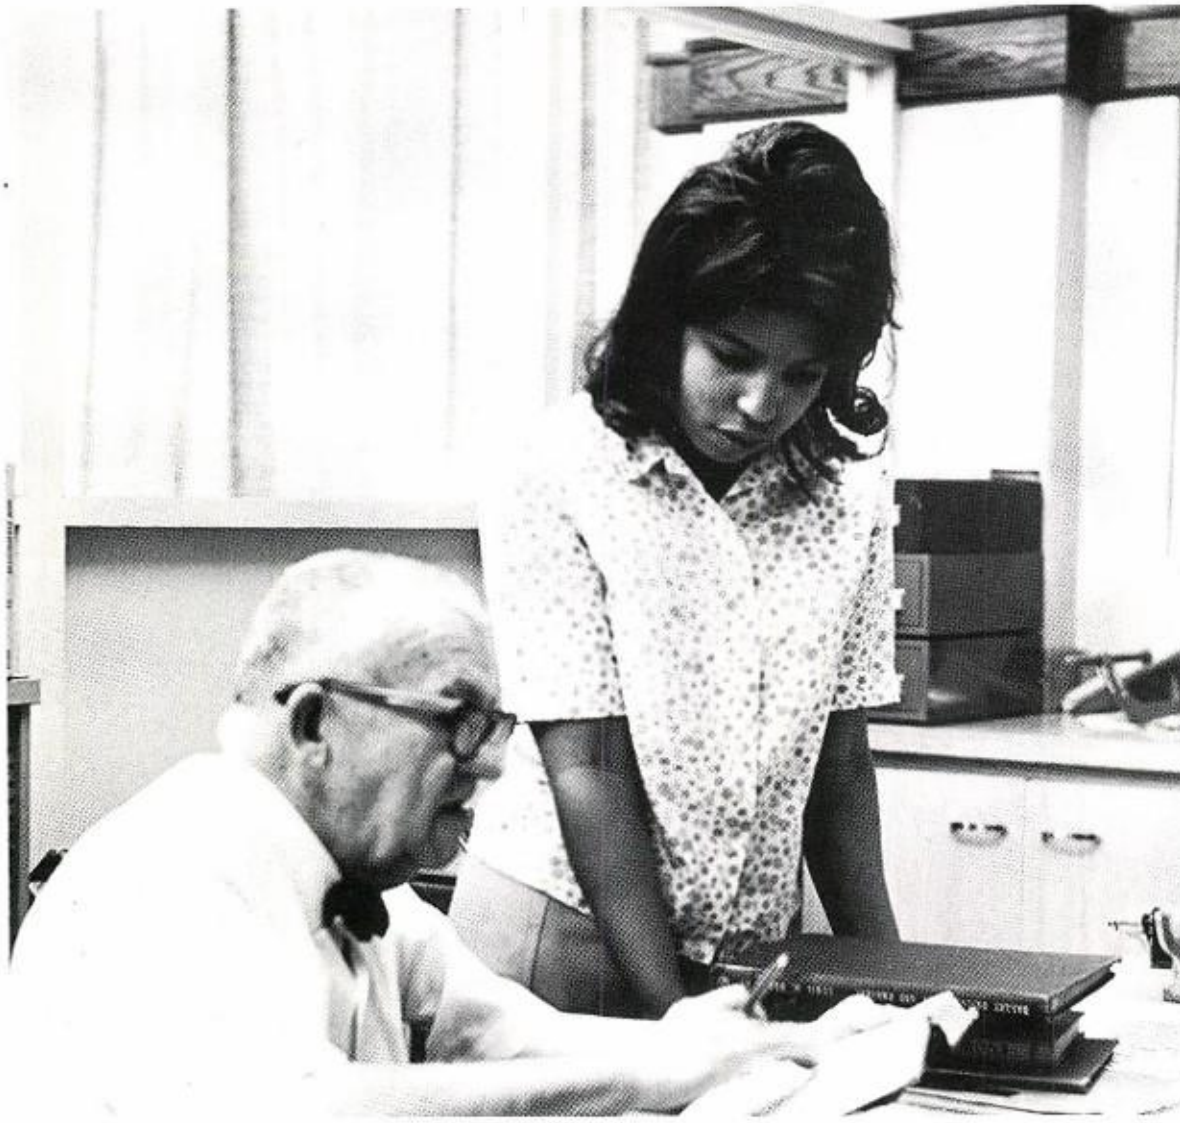

Counselors of South High School contribute to the advancement of students. Counselors help students decide which subjects would be best to take and also advise them on job choices and careers. No matter what kind of problem a student has, a counselor is always there to help.

Decisions

Mr. Workman, junior boys' counselor, advises Steve Dragoo about his next year's schedule.

Mr. McArtor finds time to straighten up his desk.

Library Aids in Studying and Learning

All students and teachers are entitled to the use of the library. They may use the room to acquire new information, to read magazines and books, or just study. The library is operated by Mr. Thomas, Mrs. Hahn, and student assistants.

Mr. Thomas and Verna Booker discuss the ways to mend a library cover.

Barbara Chandler and Son-ya Peterson appreciate the assistance of library aid, Debbie Patten.

Mrs. Hahn and Mr. Thomas take time to arrange a display of library books.

McDonald Anderson and John Auld make use of the magazines available for reading enjoyment.

Cafeteria Staff Works Busily Preparing Lunch for Students

The cooks are responsible for preparing meals for a large percentage of South's 2,000 students daily. Because of the large volume, the cafeteria workers can provide a wide variety of well-balanced meals.

Head cook, Lois Maxwell, supervises the preparation of many lunches during the day.

Maintenance plays a very important part in South High's daily schedule. The custodians have many jobs to perform. Some of these include: burning trash, sweeping floors, keeping restrooms in order, and making repairs around the school. Both faculty and students appreciate the service of the custodians.

Custodians Help Keep South Clean

Sweeping floors is one of the many jobs of the custodial staff.

One of Bill Mathers' winter jobs is to keep the parking lot clear for cars.

Art Classes Explore Modern and Unique

Art is offered to any student who is interested in this field, whether he plans art as a vocation or as a recreation. Art students make many paintings, statues, ceramic work, and other projects.

Some are made for enjoyment, some are made for activities at South, and some are made for outside interests.

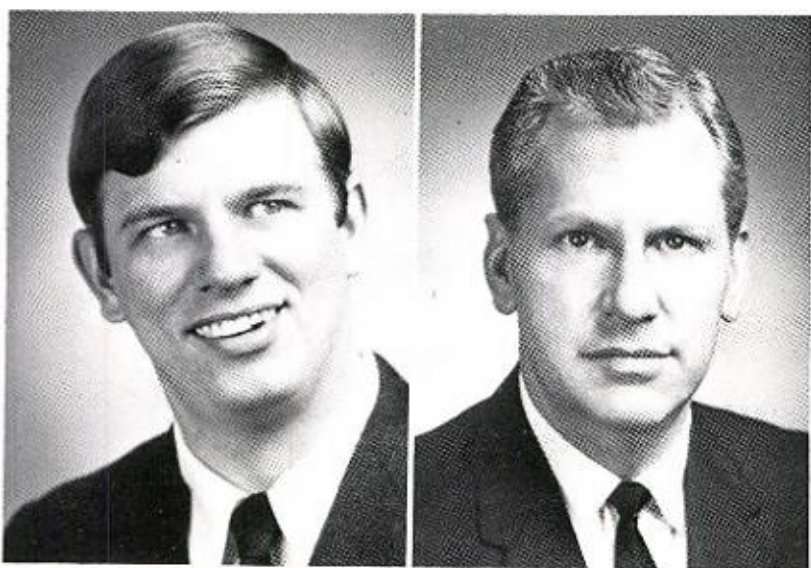

Linda Good, John Arnett, and Sandy Dinges print silk screen posters.

Students of Mr. Lynn's Music Fundamentals class complete their exercises for the day.

Students Acquire Concepts of Music

Music Literature acquaints the student with the masters of music and their works. One is constantly exposed to music of all kinds to insure complete understanding of the music world. The courses which are offered at South include music fundamentals, music literature, orchestra, band, choir, and glee club.

Modern Languages Taught With Vitality

Gary Johnson and Vanita Blanchard listen intently as they learn a new French dialogue.

South students may choose from four foreign languages: French, German, Latin, and Spanish. Although Latin is no longer spoken, it is the foundation of many of the present-day languages; therefore a knowledge of it would definitely help a student in any field. By studying one of the modern languages, a student learns not only the grammar and vocabulary, but also learns the cultural background of the country.

Students Learn Trades in Industrial Arts

There is always a need for men trained in the mechanical and technical trades. The industrial arts' teachers are training these men to fulfill this demand.

Subjects offered are: drafting, printing, sheet-metal, auto mechanics, carpentry, wood-shop, machine shop, and power mechanics.

Bobby Smith and Tom Jenkins are assembling a small engine in auto mechanics class.

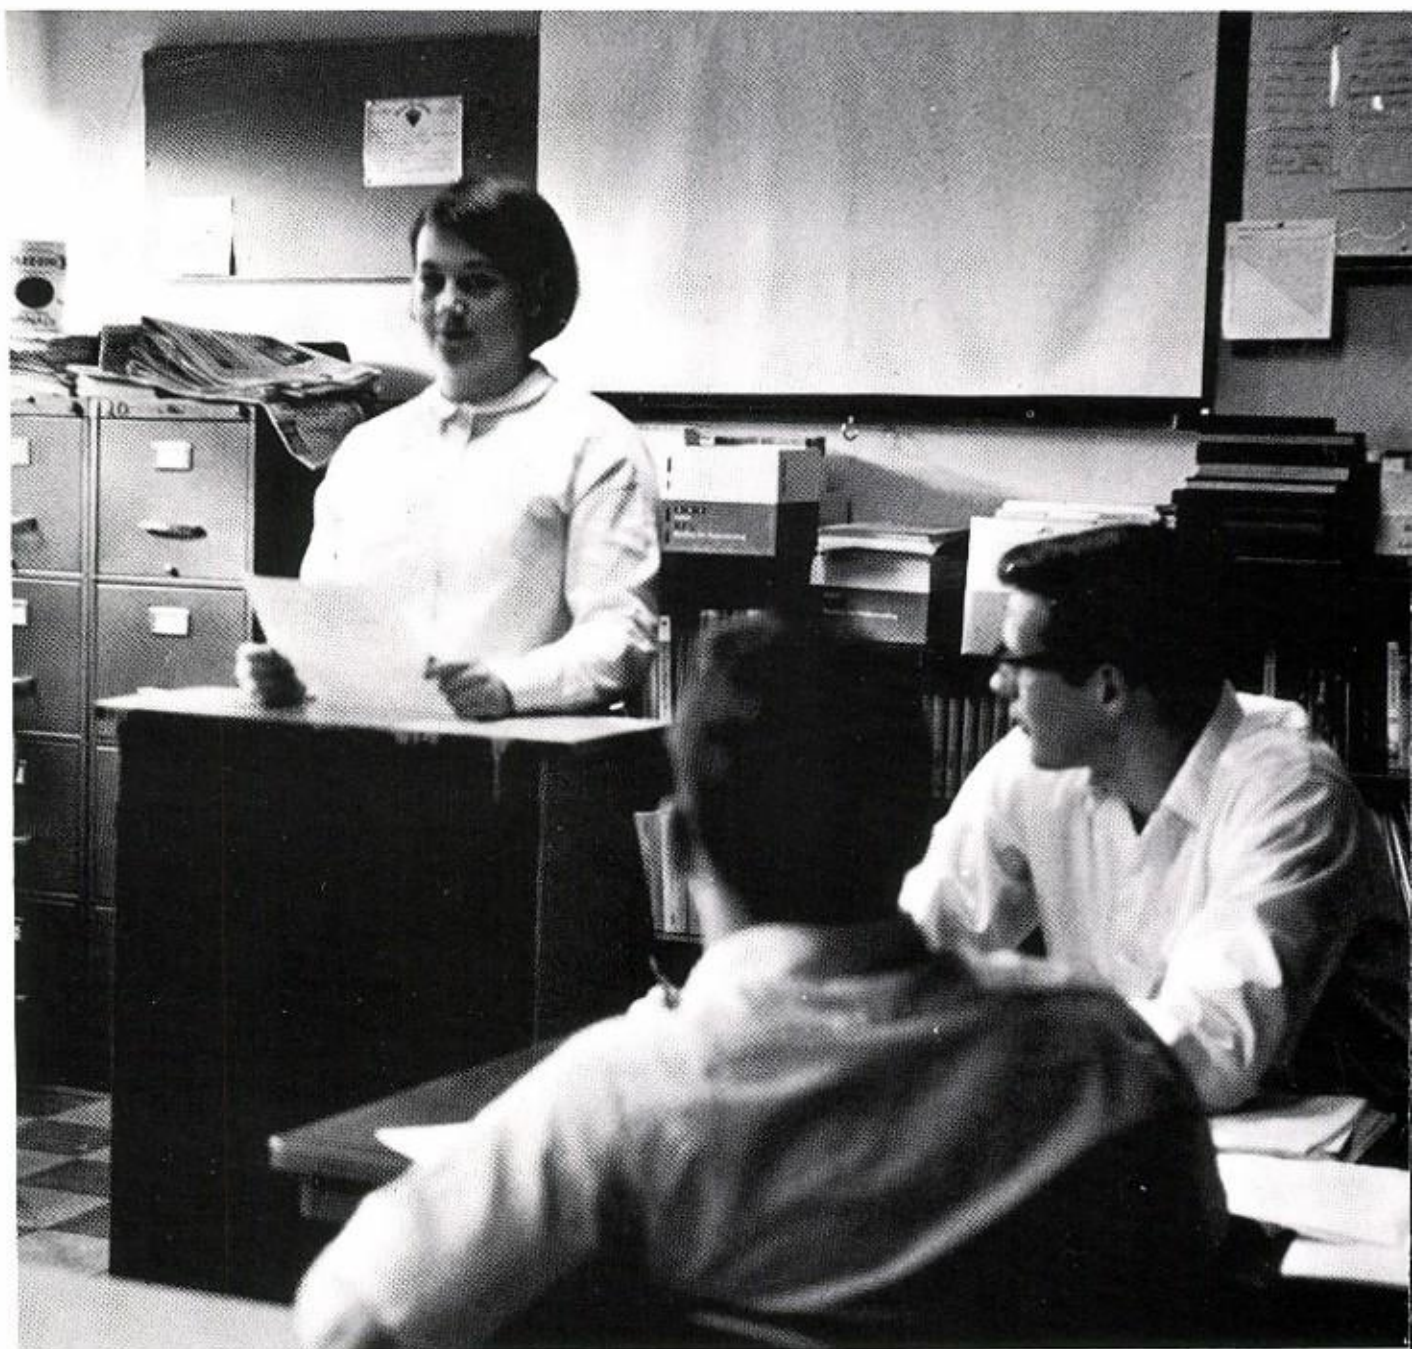

Mike McClure makes the sparks fly as he works with a grinder in machine shop.

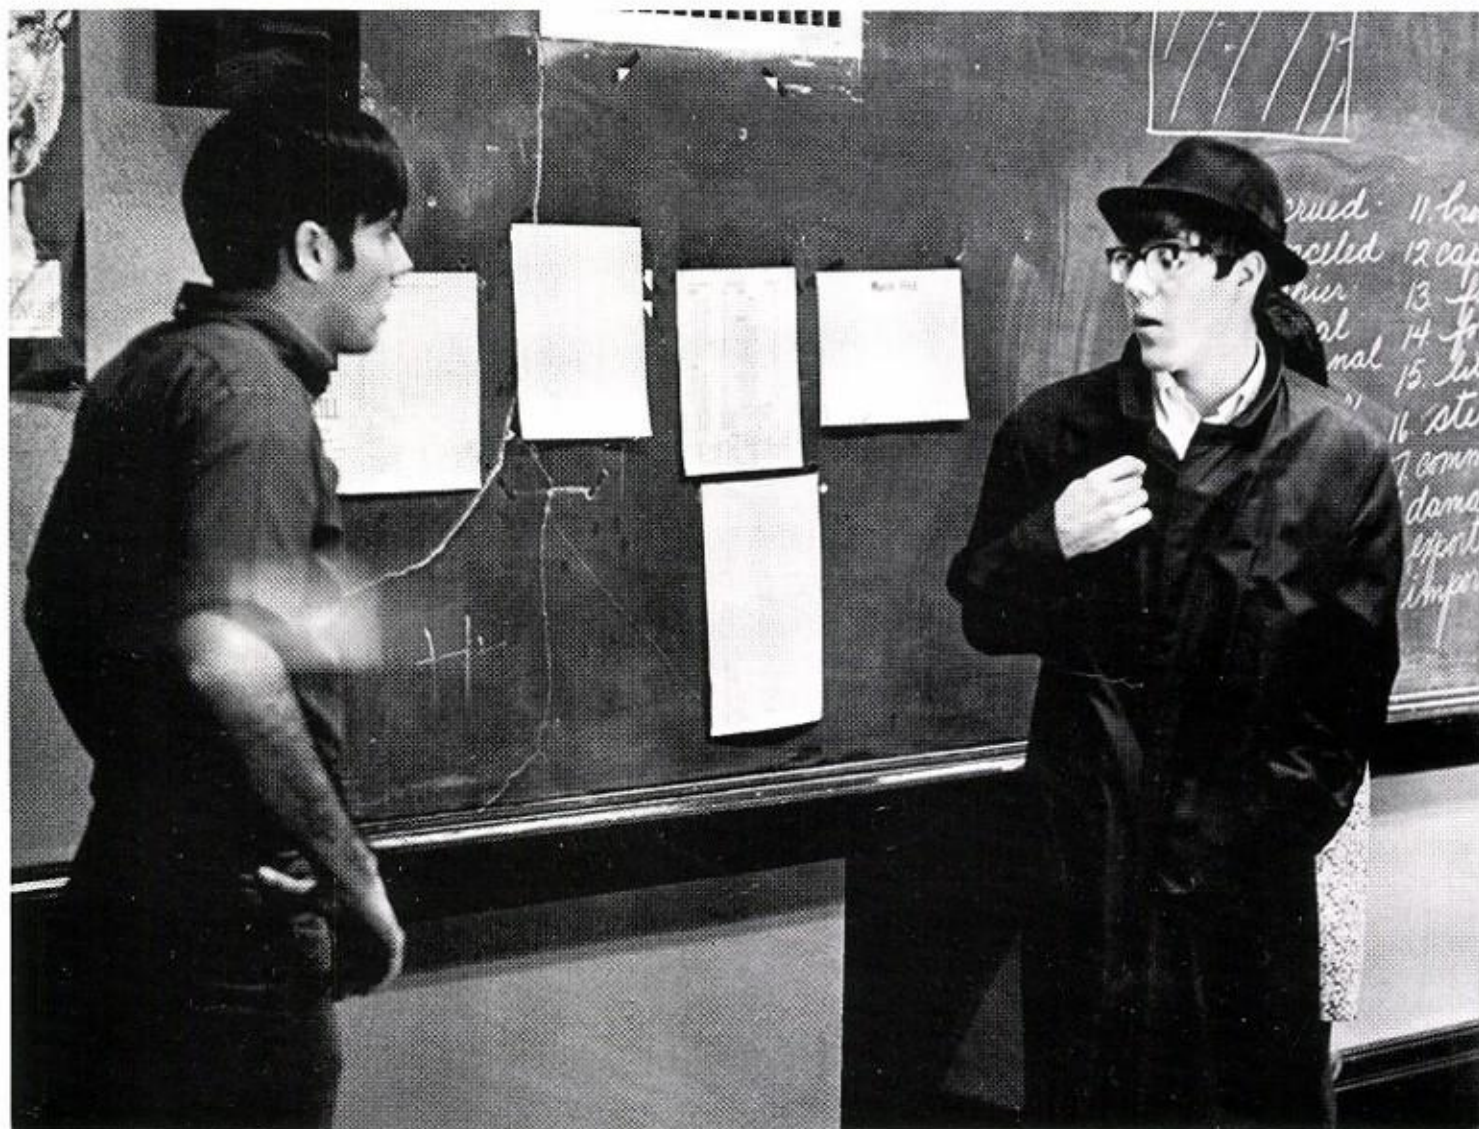

Melonie Parker delivers a speech in her speech class.

Students Learn To Become Good Speakers

Students learn many things in speech class. They are taught the necessary requirements of a good speech, including gestures, the right voice levels, and the pitches that make listening a pleasure. During the year the speech classes perform plays, debate, and give speeches and oral interpretations.

Home Economics Club Makes Better Homemakers

Home Economics Club presents a variety of activities for the future homemaker.

The schedule for this year included flower arranging, cake decorating, make-up demonstrations, and an exhibition of antiques. The club also sold napkins to raise funds.

Officers of Home Economics Club are Dorothy Brumfield, president; Linda Taylor, vice-president; and Brenda McDavid, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Barlow, advisor, and Craig Johnson, president of the Junior Red Cross, look at the posters used to encourage membership in the Red Cross.

American Junior Red Cross holds an annual drive which enables the students to contribute money to buy Christmas gifts and inexpensive birthday gifts for the hospitalized veterans at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton.

The council members are elected in their sophomore year and serve three years as members.

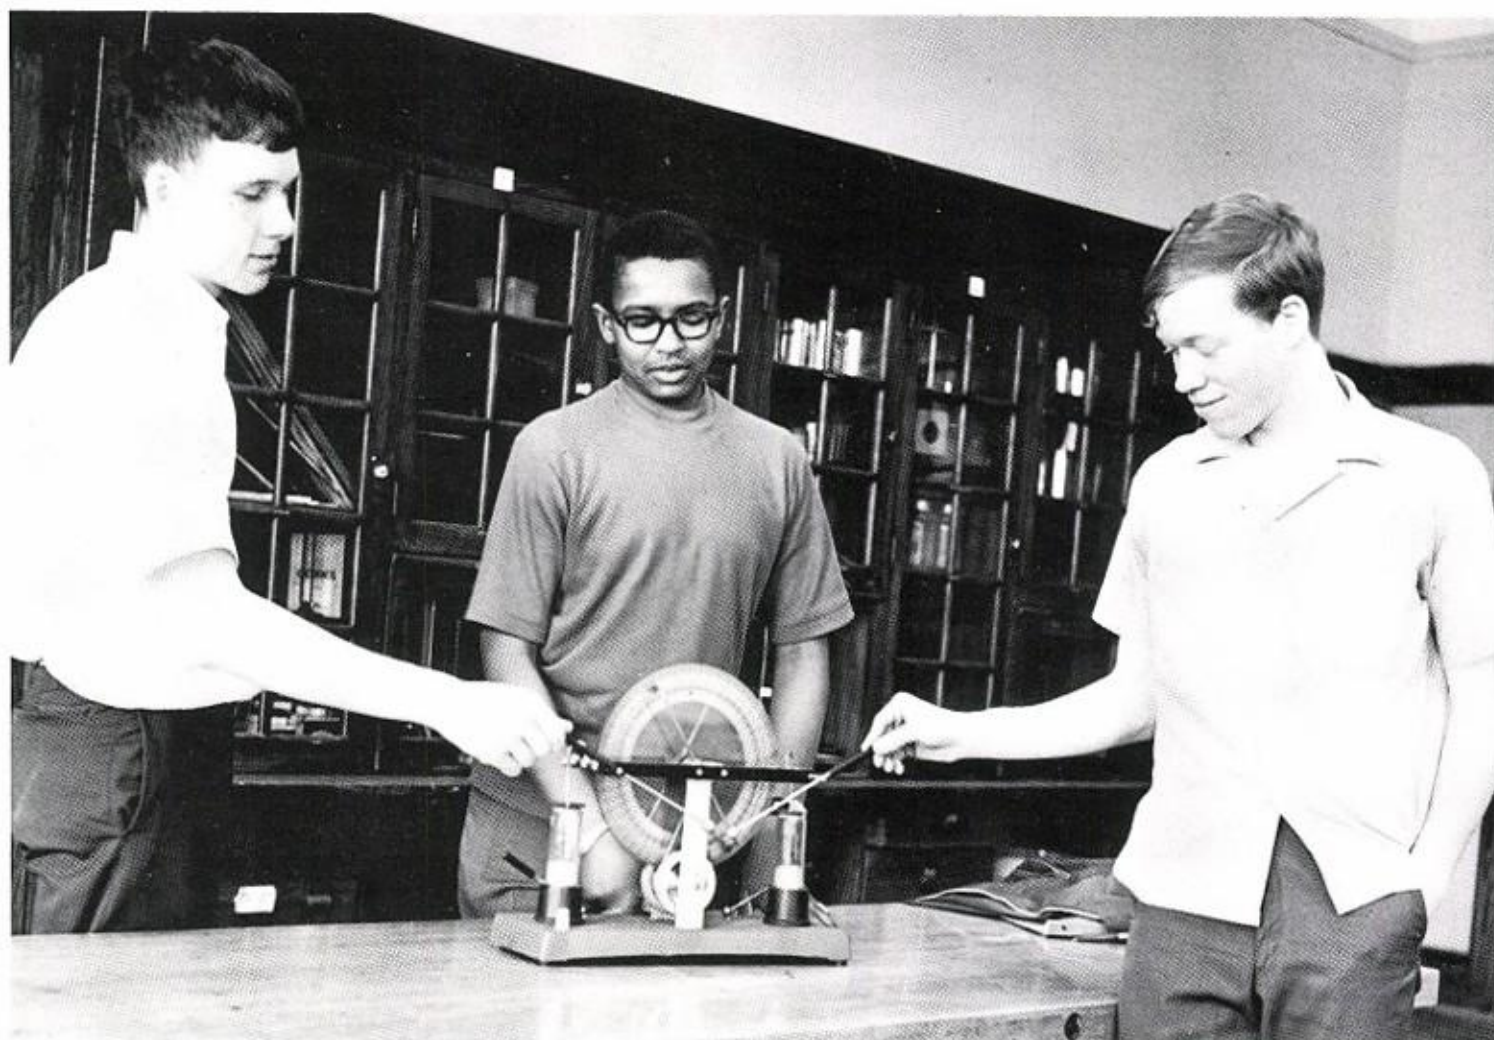

Junior Red Cross Helps Hospitalized Veterans

Those math and science students who are interested in delving deeper into the fields of chemistry and physics which are not normally covered in the classroom are invited to join this club.

The main activity of this year for Star and Atom was a computer dance held for the students of North and South High. The couples were picked by matching their personalities and their mutual likes and dislikes.

Officers of Star and Atom—Howard Olson, secretary-treasurer; Jerome Dailey, president; and John Webster, vice-president—demonstrate a Wimshurst machine.

Star and Atom Sponsors a Computer Dance

Members of Star and Atom discuss the various topics pertaining to science.

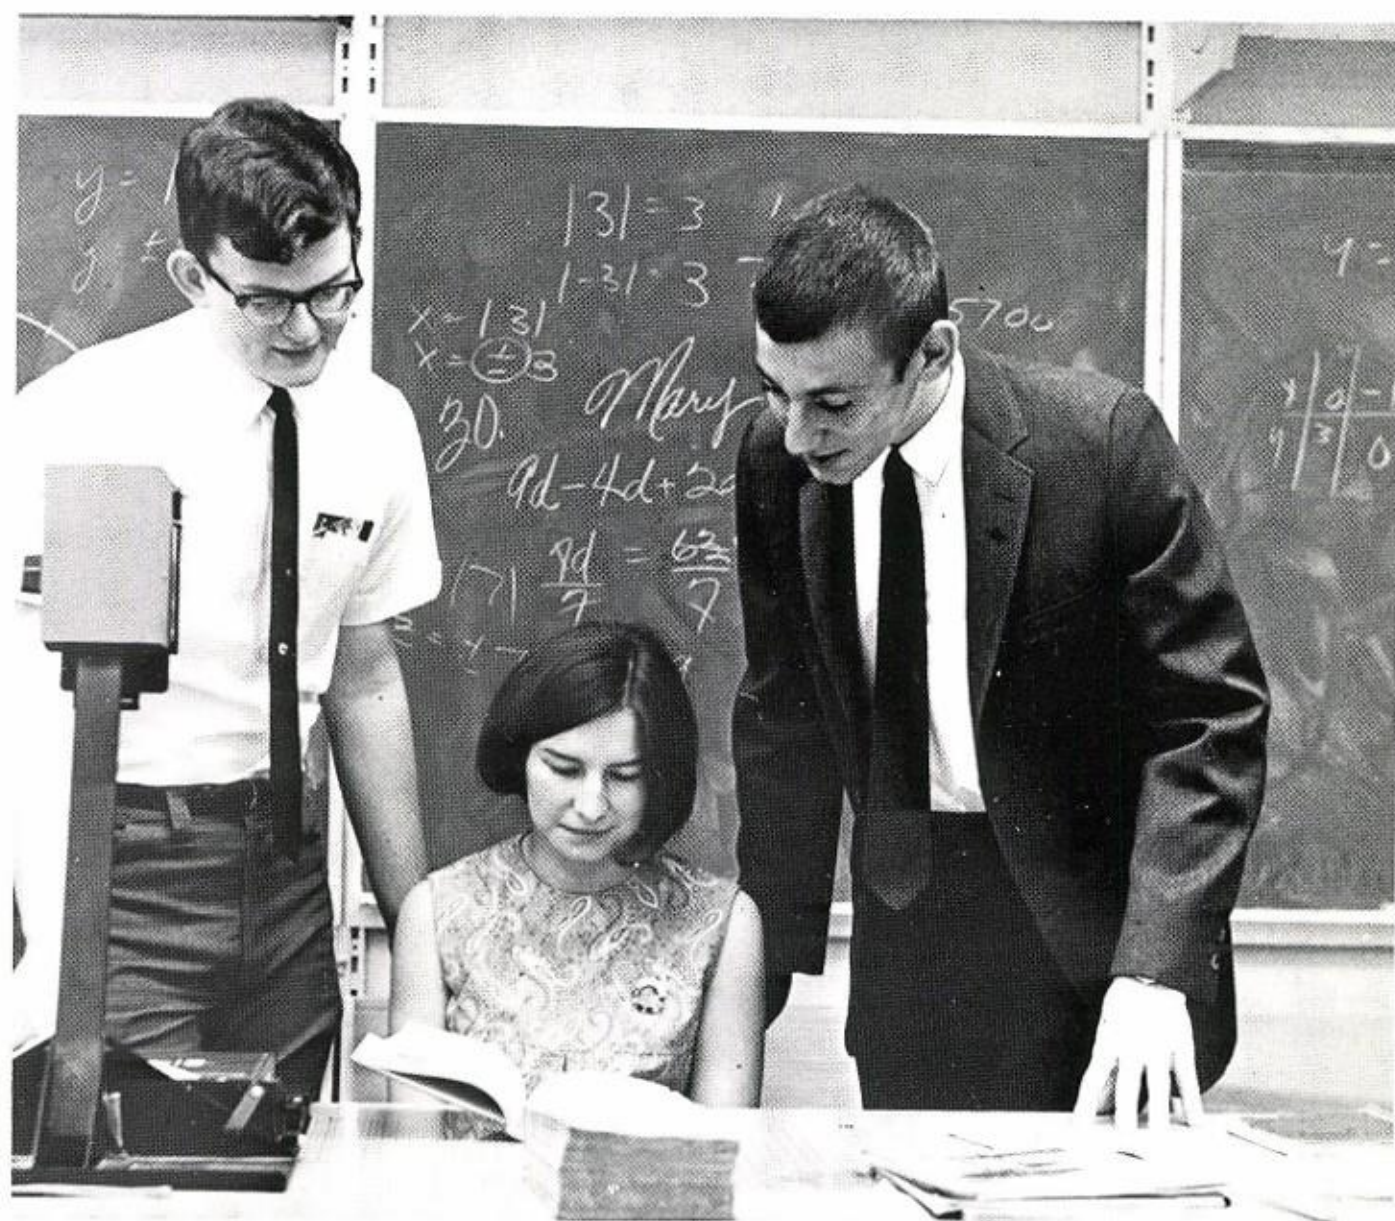

John Auld, president of Math Club, speaks to the members about the up-coming picnic.

Math Club Stimulates the Mind

Math Club presents higher levels of mathematics than are possible of achieving in the classrooms. Those students who are thinking of entering the mathematics profession are encouraged to join.

Math puzzles, panel discussions, and former South students were on the agenda this year, as well as a film and a picnic.

Officers of Math Club are John Auld, president; Kathy Gerhardt, secretary-treasurer; and Paul Wilson, vice-president.

Jerome Dailey, English Club president; Shaila White, vice-president; and Ron Craig, secretary-treasurer, check a story for publication in Accents.

"Spoon River Anthology" and "Accents"

Mrs. Austin hands Rhonda Powell her second-year English Club pin while Connie Bennett, Jerome Dailey, Shaila White, Kathy Yowler and Mark Hopkins await their presentations.

Judy Fout, Debbie Hill, Linda Holm, Sharon McLaughlin, Leroi Sutton, and Diane Lyon canvassed the homerooms to sell copies of Accents.

Highlight the Year for English Club

English Club, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Austin, presents a wider look into the field of literature and the arts than would normally be found in the classrooms.

Among the numerous activities of English Club, which included Patricia Rooney, from the Sun and a South High alumna, who spoke about the blessings and hardships of college, there was also a "Coffee-House" in January, which gave the members of North, Catholic Central, and South an opportunity to indulge in an hour and a half of refreshing musical entertainment.

Accents, a booklet containing original poems and essays from South High students, is another accomplishment of English Club. Accents is an annual project of the club.

Kathy Yowler and Nataline Settles were two of the people who read excerpts from Spoon River Anthology at the February meeting of English Club.

The officers of French Club are Julie Cutshall, secretary; Neysa Stephens, vice-president; Linda Gatten, president; and Kirby Kellar, treasurer.

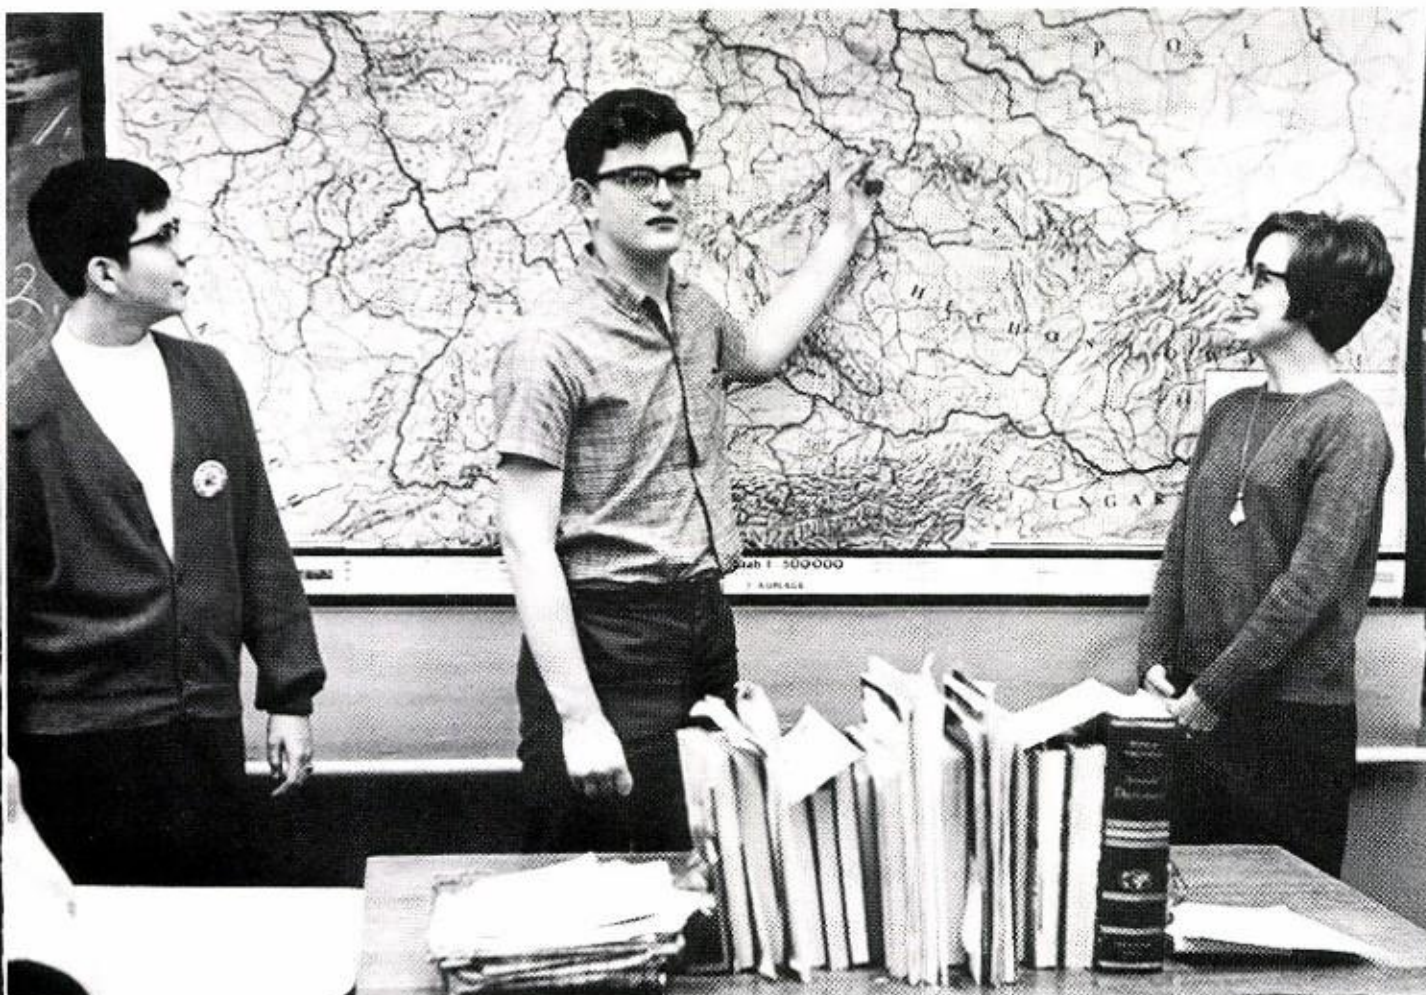

French Club Combines "Franco-American" Style

Lee Higgenbotham helps Debby Orr regain her footing at the French Club ice skating party.

This year French Club had their annual initiation picnic for the new members and a talk by Tanya Motley, who has lived in France. Among the other activities, there was a Christmas party, which included a continuance of a Charlie Brown skit; an ice skating party at Snyder Park; and a spring picnic for the graduating seniors.

French Club was designed to bring the customs and styles of the French people to the student members.

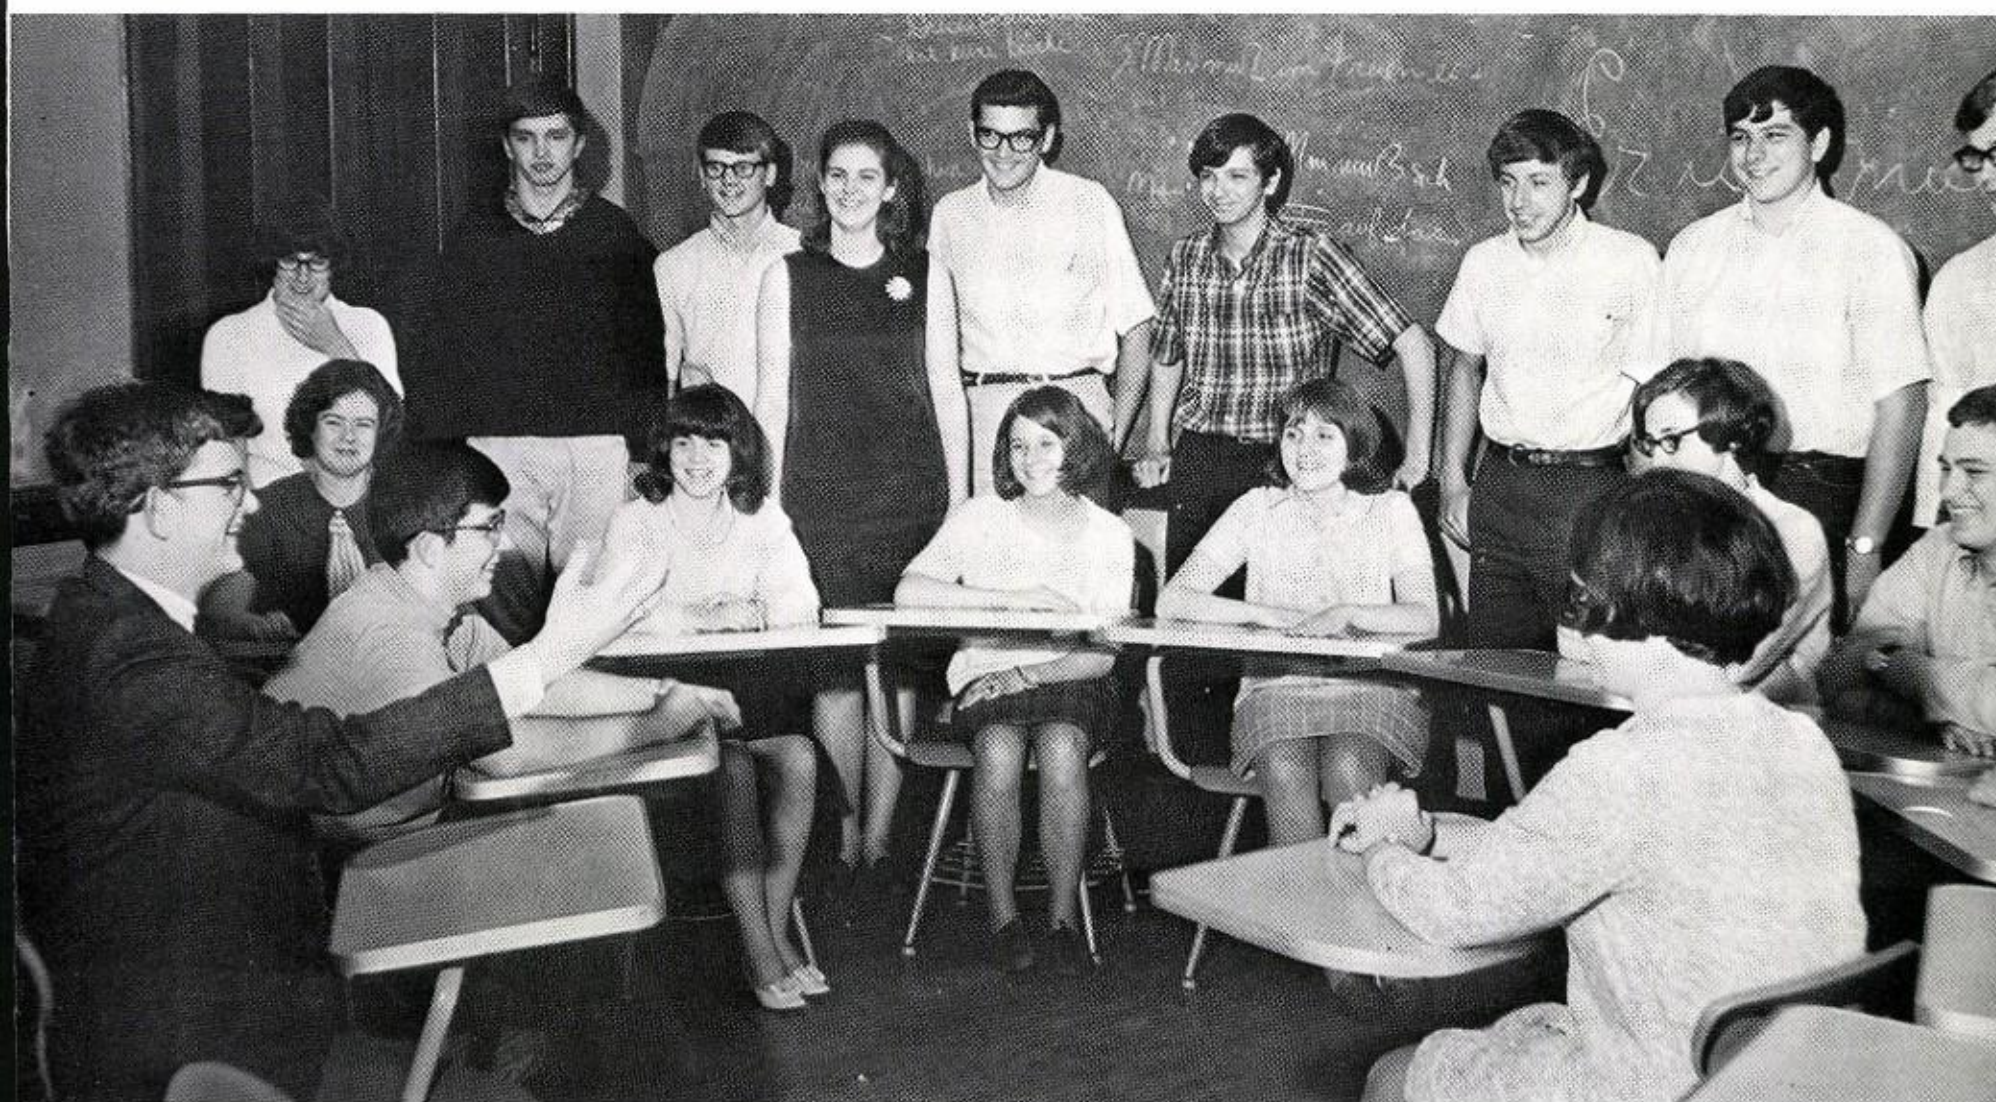

Officers of German Club are Jon Raff, vice president; John Auld, president; and Juanita Warren, secretary.

Among the activities for German Club this year were a combined initiation-picnic in November, a discussion of German sports and awards, and a speaker, Marilyn Fent, who spoke about life in Germany during recent years.

The German Club, open to all students taking German, seeks to add interest to the course by introducing sidelights of German customs and culture.

German Writer Goethe Discussed in German Club

Secretary-treasurer Gary Westfall hands refreshments to Debbie Patten, president, and Kris Ream, vice-president, of Latin Club.

Mrs. Vernon Kelley showed slides of ancient Rome and discussed them with the members of Latin Club.

Latin Club: The Link Between Ancient and Modern

Latin Club brings to its members the more personal aspects of the lives of the Romans during the ancient centuries.

Activities for this year included a guest, Mrs. Vernon Kelley, who showed movies and spoke of the life of the Romans in the ancient days; a songfest in December; a Latin talent show; and the annual Latin wedding and banquet.

Sheila Nolan and Larry McClure are "married" while other members of Latin Club are witnesses at the Roman Wedding.

The officers of Spanish Club, Nataline Settles, secretary; Larry Hackett, president; and Jean Castillo, vice-president, take time out to enjoy a little music.

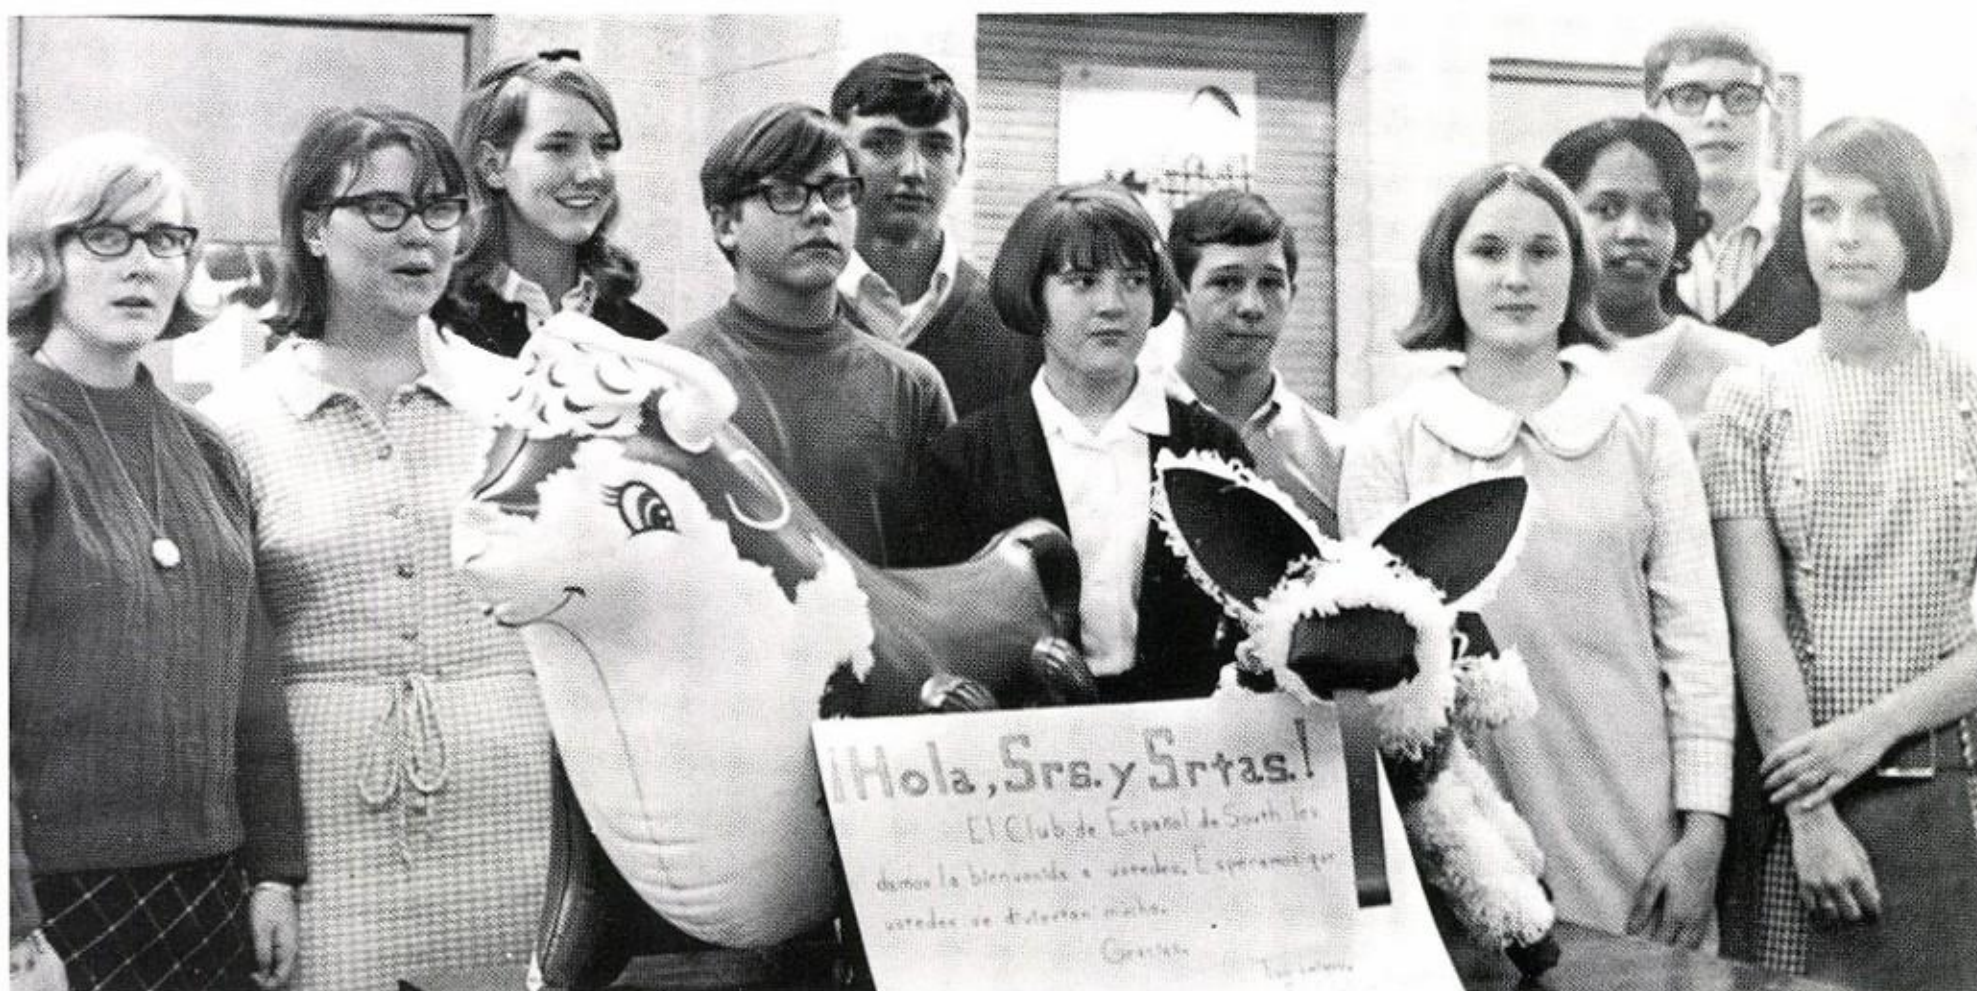

The Spanish Club enlightens the members on the Spanish customs and familiarizes the students with the Spanish language.

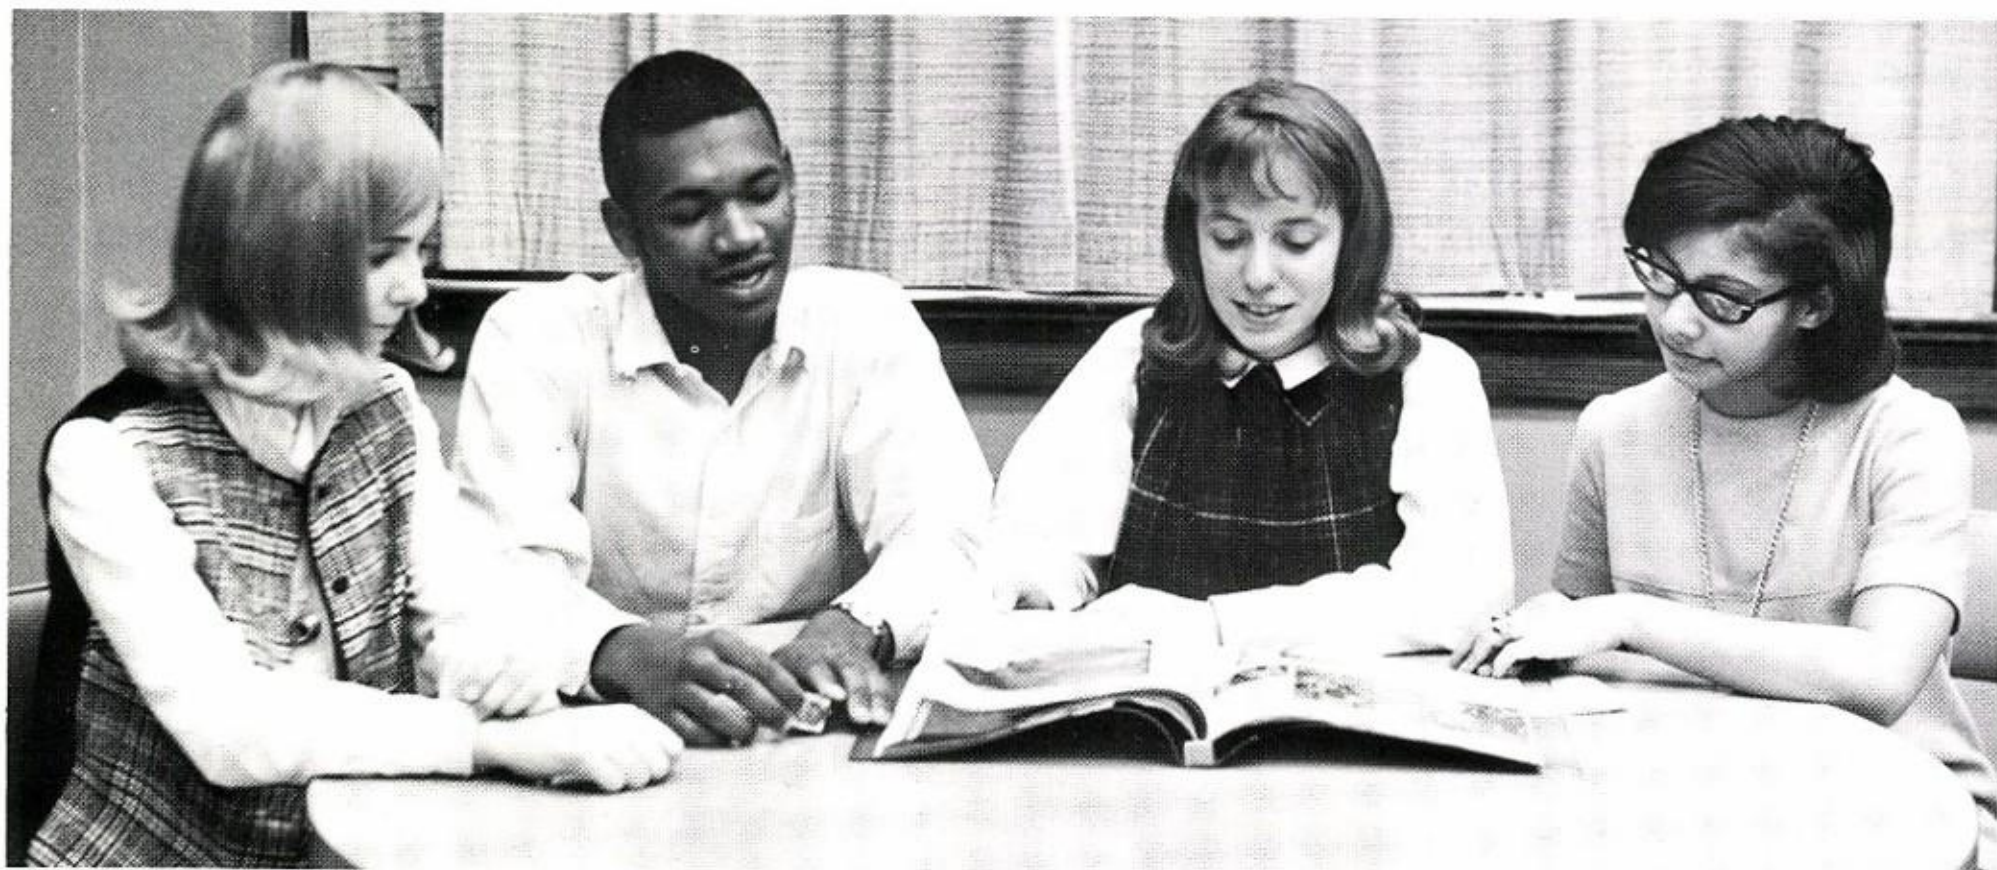

Besides the initiation for the new members in November, a Spanish Choir from Piqua sang at Christmas. A feature-length movie, a drama of a short story, and a humorous play found their way into the El Espanol calendar.

A trip to El Toro Restaurant in Columbus for a Mexican dinner topped a very active Spanish Club year.

El Club Español Has Busy Year

Members of Spanish Clubs of Piqua and South get together at Christmas for the traditional breaking of the piñata.

The officers of Library Club are Cheri Edgington, secretary; Bernard Hogan, vice-president; Jayne Fitch, president; and Debbie Birden, treasurer.

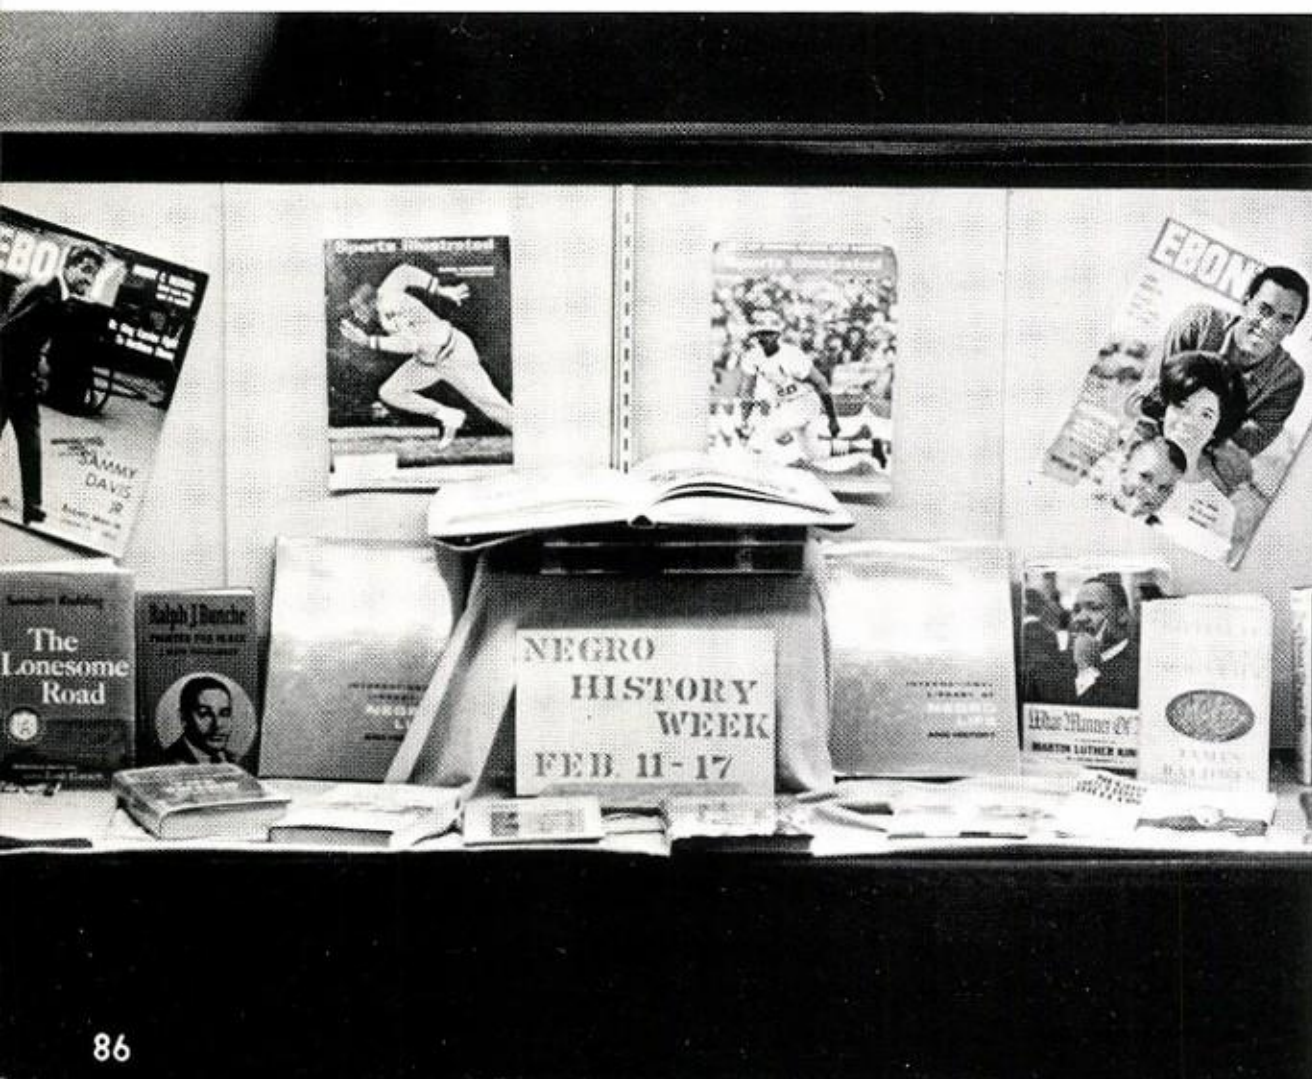

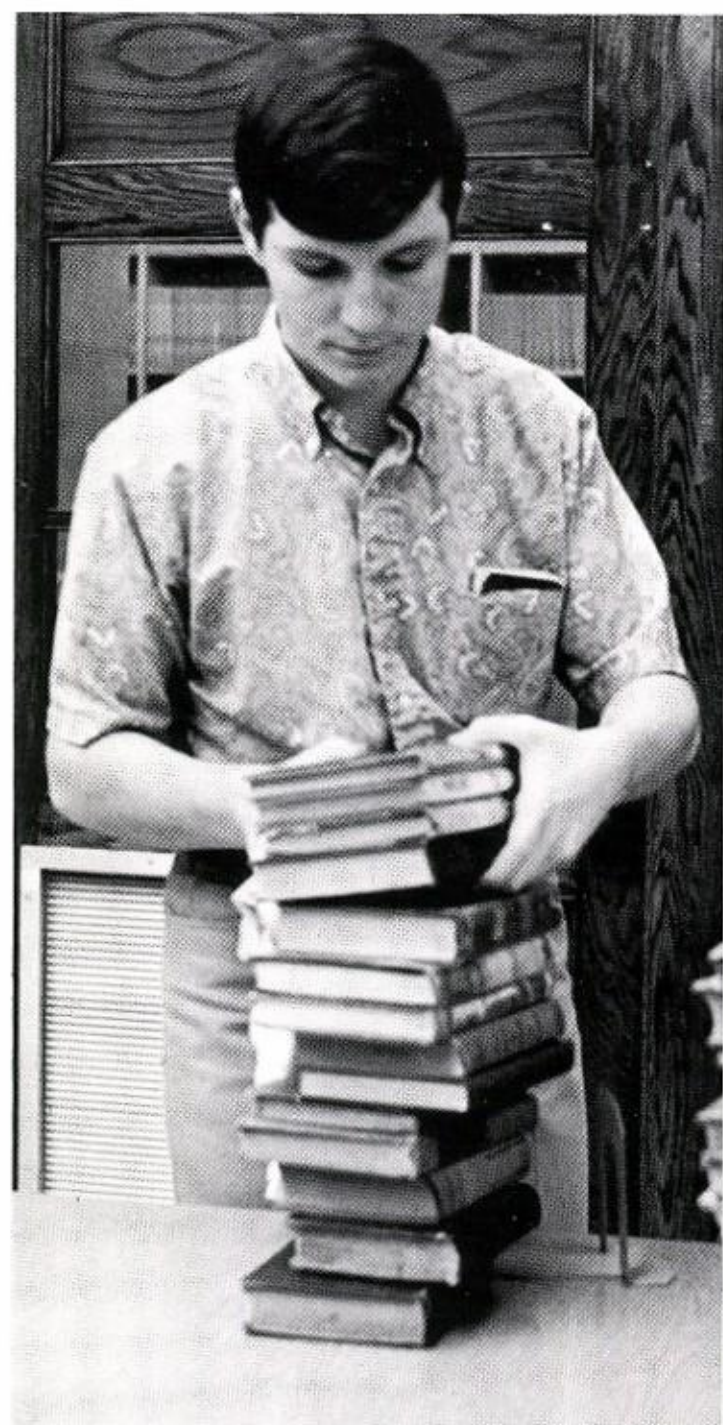

"Come Alive" Is Library Club Theme

Norman Watts arranges the books neatly on the shelves.

"Come Alive" was the theme of Library Club this year. This theme was elaborated on by different posters and signs for the second-floor hall to let the students know that the library was boosting South.

Enrollment of the Library Club is made up of the student aides who relinquish their study hall periods to work in the library.

During Negro History Week, members of Library Club decorated the second-floor showcase.

William Bell, president; Yvonne Kidd, vice-president; LeRoi Sutton, program chairman, are planning the program for the year.

Under the supervision of Mr. Pepper, students in Link Club discuss the many controversial issues of the day.

This year Link discussed mostly the war in Viet Nam and the Hippie society versus our society.

To collect $100 for radio station WBLY Smilin' Bob's Milk Fund, Link members went to the home-rooms to collect contributions from the students.

Linda Overman gives her speech while Ron Smith and Dorothy Parker listen.

National Forensic League is an active organization for those people who express an interest in public speaking. Those people who earn 25 points by participating in debates, general public speeches, and speech contests are initiated into the club. Mr. Warner is the sponsor.

Bob Duffy listens and waits until it is time for his debate.

Mr. Huffman congratulates Bonnie Price on her entrance into National Thespians.

National Thespian officers are Patty McElroy, president; Kirby Kellar, treasurer; Connie Boblitt, secretary; Jim Shuman, vice-president.

National Thespians Hold Assembly for Initiation

This year for the first time, the National Thespian initiation was conducted during an assembly. Those students who have earned ten points or more by taking part in the school plays are initiated into a lifetime membership.

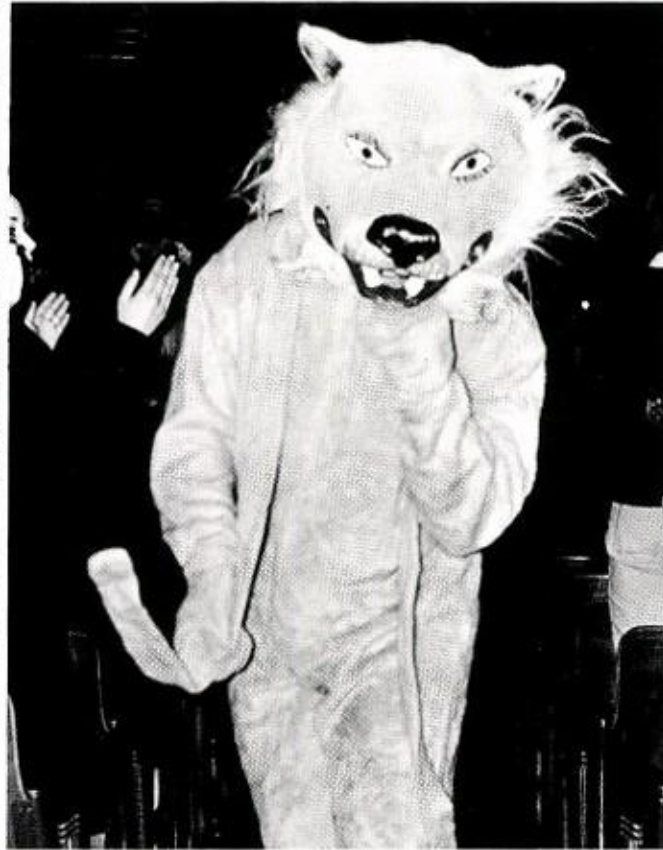

To earn these points, a person must be in the cast or crew of any play during the school year. This year the National Thespians sponsored the play Dear Me, The Sky Is Falling.

ACTIVITIES

Student Council — The Voice of the Students

Tom Daniels, vice-president; Shanna Horne, president; and Susie Calabrese, secretary-treasurer, discuss an upcoming Student Council meeting.

One of the most important spokes in the student activities wheel is student council. Student Council is an organization which serves as the major link between the students and the administration. By seeking to solve the different problems of the school, the student council makes for better co-operation among the students, the teachers, and the principal and his staff.

The council meets the third Wednesday of each month. Membership in the council requires, being an officer in one's home-room. Each class has a separate council, and members from each council are chosen for the executive board.

The student council has many projects, such as sock hops, "Fun Night," the car wash, and selling pencils, in which the members may take a more active part.

by Serving South

Students at South High find that serving South offers many personal rewards. An example of this is the satisfaction that they have knowing that they are serving their school, but there is also the reward of a special assembly to recognize those students who have given their time. During this assembly each student receives a certificate commending his efforts in the service of his school.

Those students who have given more than one thousand hours of service to South are individually recognized and receive a pin. This year the number of students who contributed over one thousand hours was unusually high.

Students may obtain Star and Chevron points by doing almost any service for which the student does not receive a grade. Students are awarded Star and Chevron points by the teacher in charge of the activity.

Students Are Enthusiastic

City Clerk Wilma Stewart shows Nola Wallace, who was the student city clerk, some of the details of her job.

South High's seniors participated in Student Government Day on April 4. During the weeks before Student Government Day, the candidates were chosen by the counselors, and parties were formed to promote the candidates. The proceedings went as usual this year.

The only unusual thing about this year's election was the enthusiasm of the students involved. The election assembly was one of the most lively that South has ever had. The Cornhusker's Party defeated the Independent Indians in the election. The winning party then appointed students to fill the many city posts for a day.

Sharon Jacobs, Pam Rhodes, and Mike Ruckel, the winning candidates, eye the activity of their supporters at the convention.

Performs at Many Important School Functions

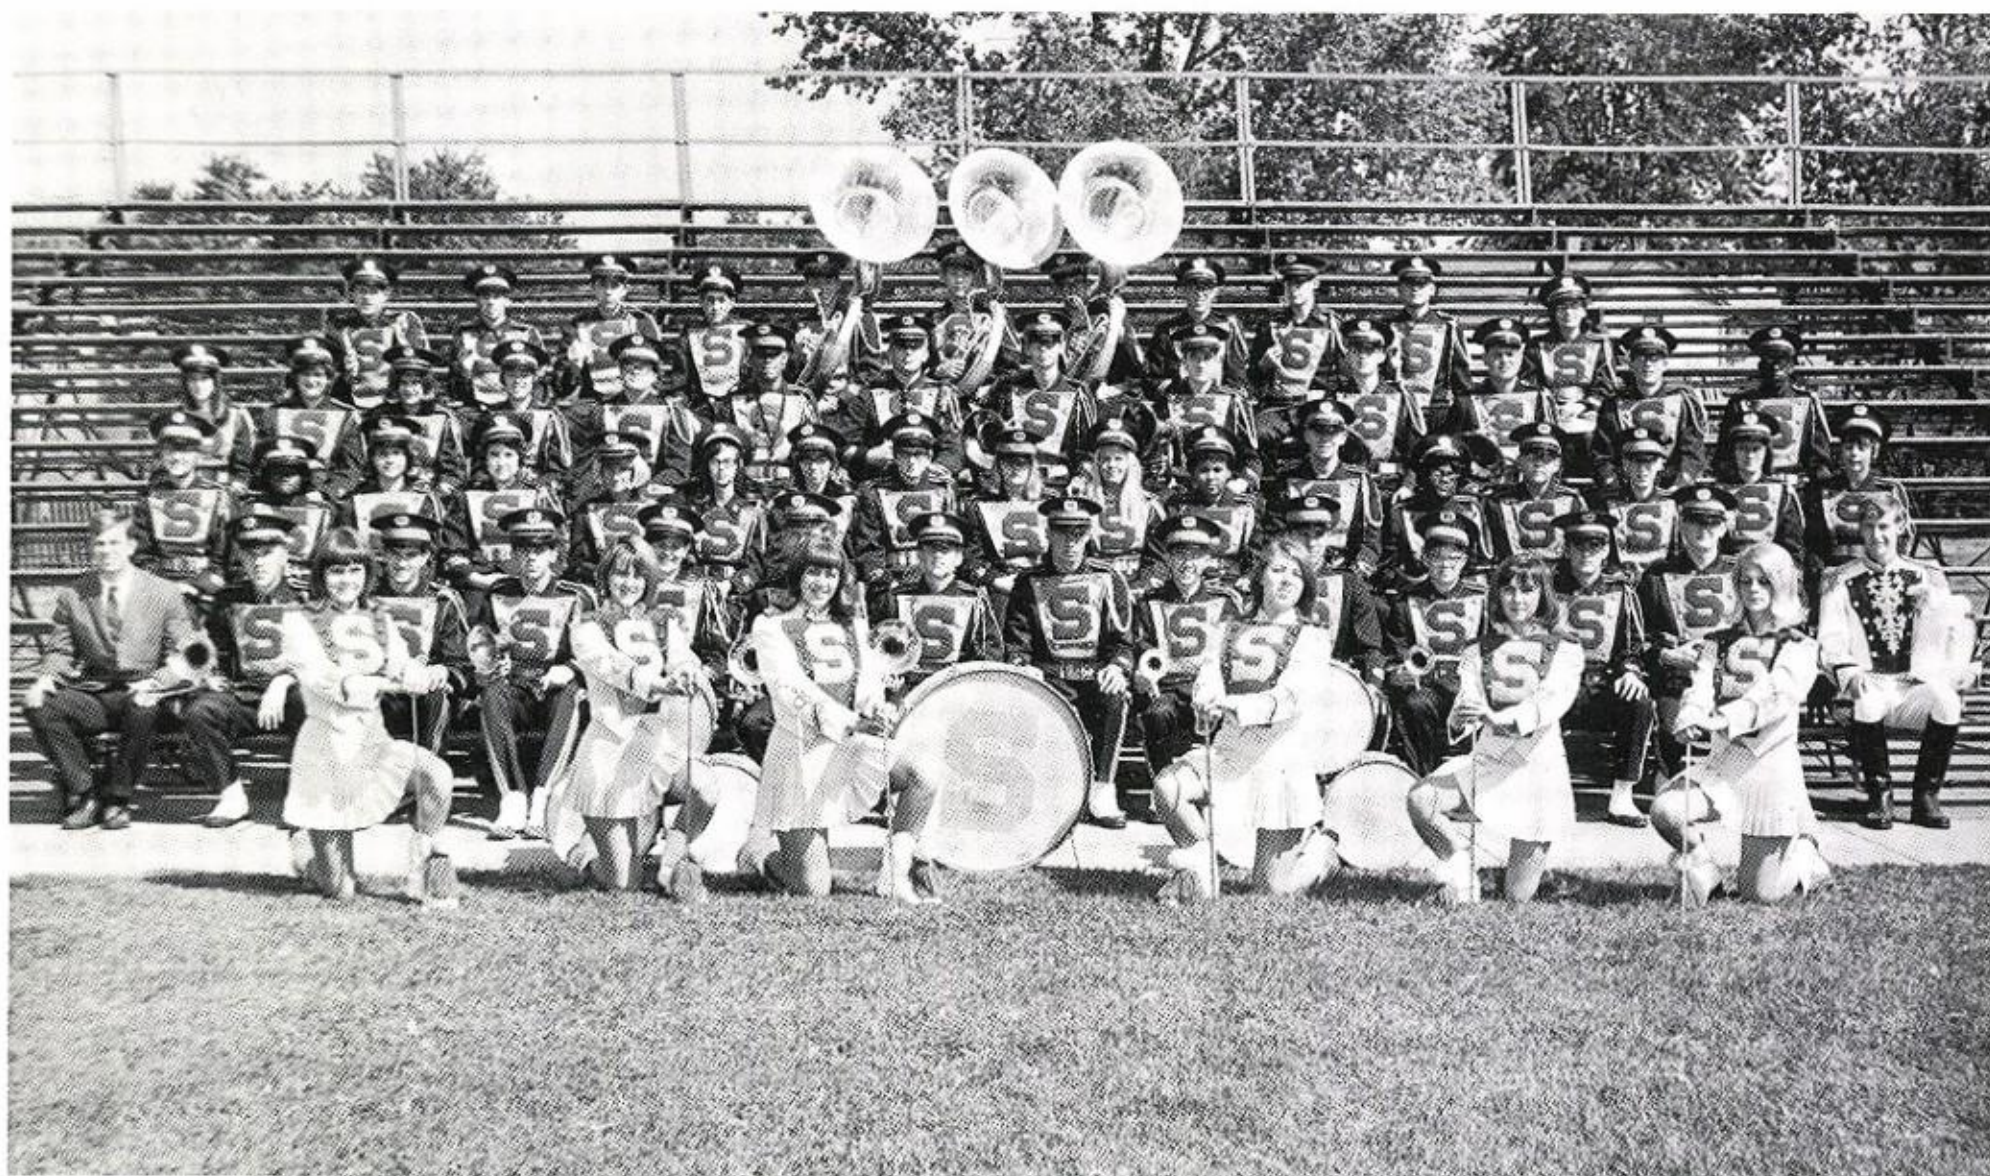

The orchestra of South High School plays an important part in many of the school's activities. In addition to this, the orchestra concert is one of the major events of the winter months. This year the concert was held on February 3 in the auditorium.

Some of the activities in which the orchestra plays a vital part are the National Honor Society assembly, commencement, class night, and assemblies held for each class.

Many long hours of rehearsal are required by each member to attain the degree of excellence shown by South High's orchestra.

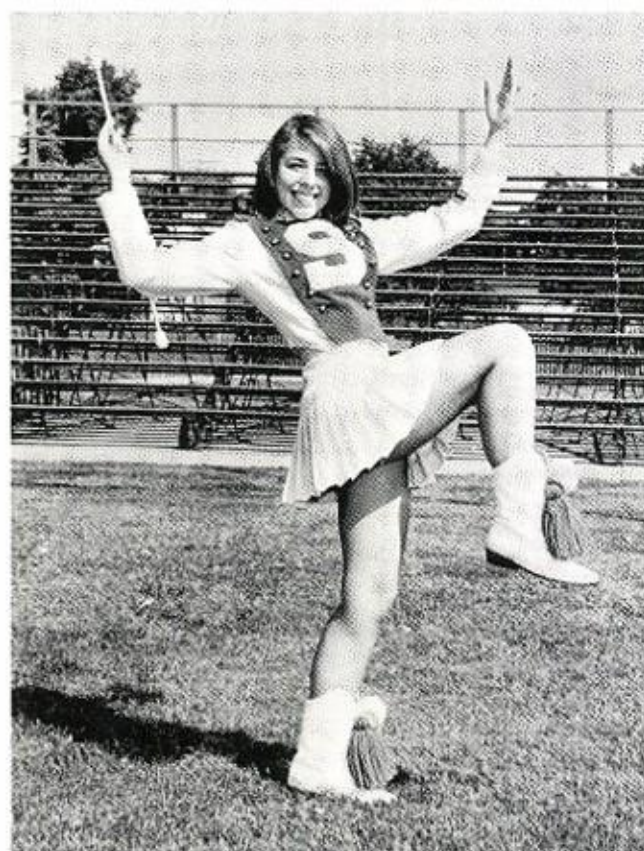

Mr. Stocker, director, and orchestra officers Gary Callahan, president; Michele Cash, librarian and Connie Bennett, secretary, discuss an upcoming concert in which the orchestra will perform.

Highlighting every home football game is South High's Marching Band. Under the leadership of their new director, Mr. Amerman, the marching Wildcats entertained football spectators with complicated formations and special majorette routines. The band kept spirit at a high pitch with bursts of fight songs whenever points were scored.

Many hours of training and tedious practice were spent by band members during the summer sessions and at band camp. The enthusiasm and hard work of members is rewarded through citywide Tag Day and Band Parent's Association.

North-South Joint Concert Highlights Year of

When football season ends, the musical activities of the marching band are replaced by those of the concert band. The major activity of the band this year was the joint band concert with North High School, honoring South's past director, Mr. Philo Botsford. This concert was held on May 17 at North High, honoring Mr. Botsford for his many years of service.

This year the band had fund-raising drives to raise money for the purchase of new band uniforms. Members of the band sold bonds and collected coffee labels which were redeemed for money. The Band Parents Association also raised money for the new uniforms by sponsoring Tag Day and operating the concession stands at the basketball and football games.

Many long hours of practice were required by the band to make their concerts and other activities successful.

Mr. Amerman, the new concert band director, directs the band in one of their daily rehearsals.

Lovely Queens Brighten Homecoming

Homecoming Queen Beverly Wehrs receives a bouquet of red roses from Susan Stiles as escort Nick Lubbers smiles proudly.

Homecoming is the high point of the football season. During this time five beautiful young ladies from the senior class are selected to reign as homecoming queens. Nominations are made in the senior homerooms. From those nominated all but fifteen girls are eliminated.

These girls are then introduced to the juniors and seniors at a special assembly. They are voted upon and the top five are selected to the homecoming court.

It is always a hard decision to make, but the students always choose girls of whom South can be proud.

This year's homecoming court consisted of, SEATED: Beverly Wehrs and Frankie Anderson. STANDING: Debbi Stephenson, Debi Adkins, and Lynn Jackson.

Turnabout is fair play, especially in leap year, and what could be more fun than the 1968 Sadie Hawkins Dance. On March 15, the girls and the boys that they had asked turned out for an evening of fun and enjoyment.

Everyone from Bonnie and Clyde to Ma and Pa Kettle showed up to dance to the music provided by the "Five Pak." There was a contest to judge the best creative costumes and boys' corsages. Sadie Hawkins added up to an evening too much fun to forget.

If you and your date didn't especially feel like dancing, you could still enjoy yourselves by walking around and looking at the decorations. A stately Buddha stared at you from one corner, and an oriental pagoda stood in another corner.

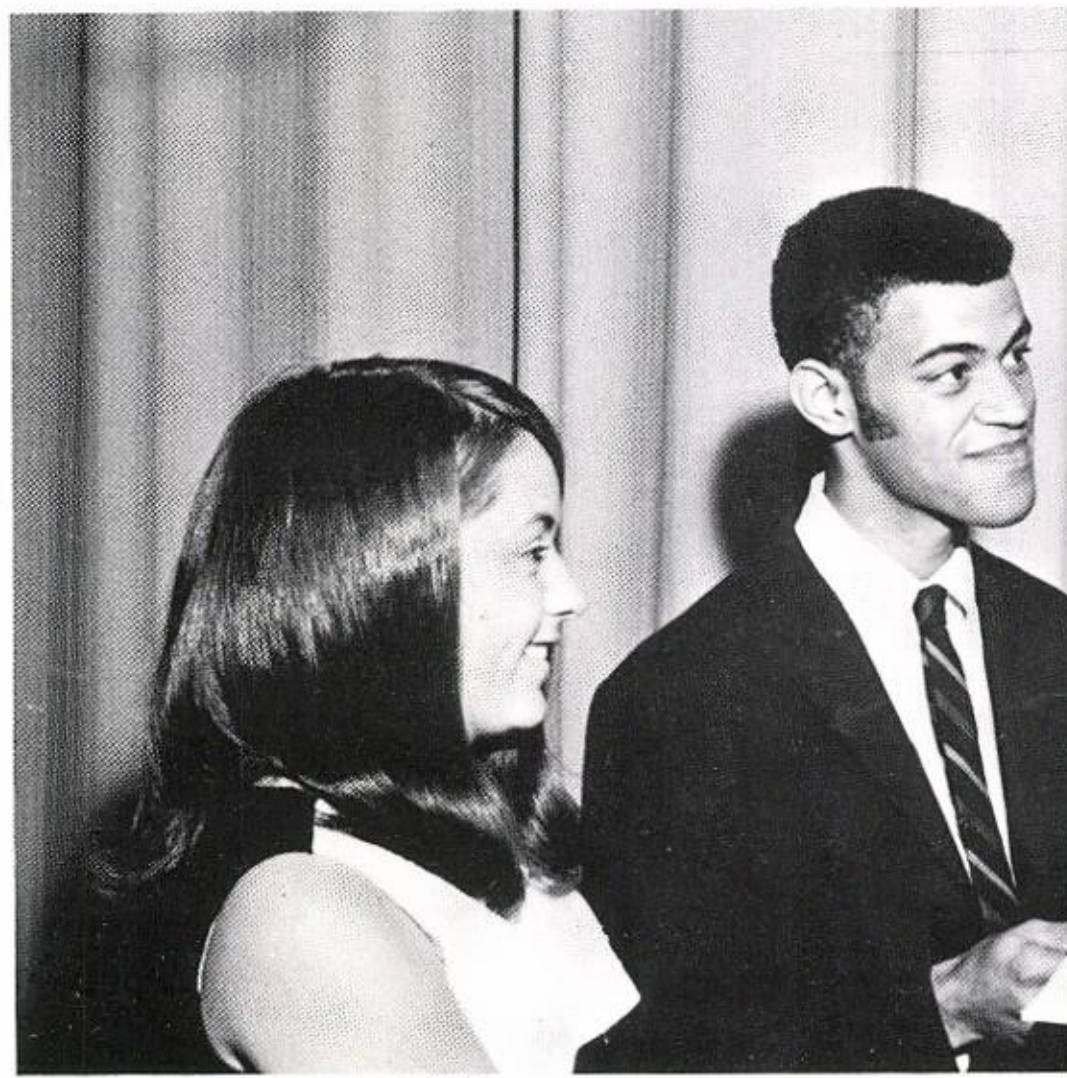

Music was provided by Tom and the Temp-ests, which was a major reason for the outstanding success of the Prom. A lot of hard work and long hours were put in by the committee to make this Prom one that all will remember.

Entire School Assembles for Annual Awards Day

The 1967-1968 Awards Day assembly was held on May 24 in Tiffany Gym. Students were honored not only for scholastic achievements, but also for service to the school, sports, music, drama and attendance. The junior delegates to Buckeye Girls' and Buckeye Boys' State were recognized. Honor was again given to the ten juniors and thirty seniors who were inducted into National Honor Society.

Susan Gorsuch, a junior, served South by giving her time to various activities. With a total of 1,658 hours, Sue gave more of her time than any other student, and she still has her senior year to look forward to.

Gary Callahan and Michele Cash received the music awards. Gary received his award for the outstanding orchestra member. Making just as many contributions, Michele received the award for the outstanding band member.

Well-Deserved

Mr. Lehn congratulates John Storm for one of his many achievements during the 1967-1968 school year. Here John is being recognized as the junior boy with the highest scholastic average.

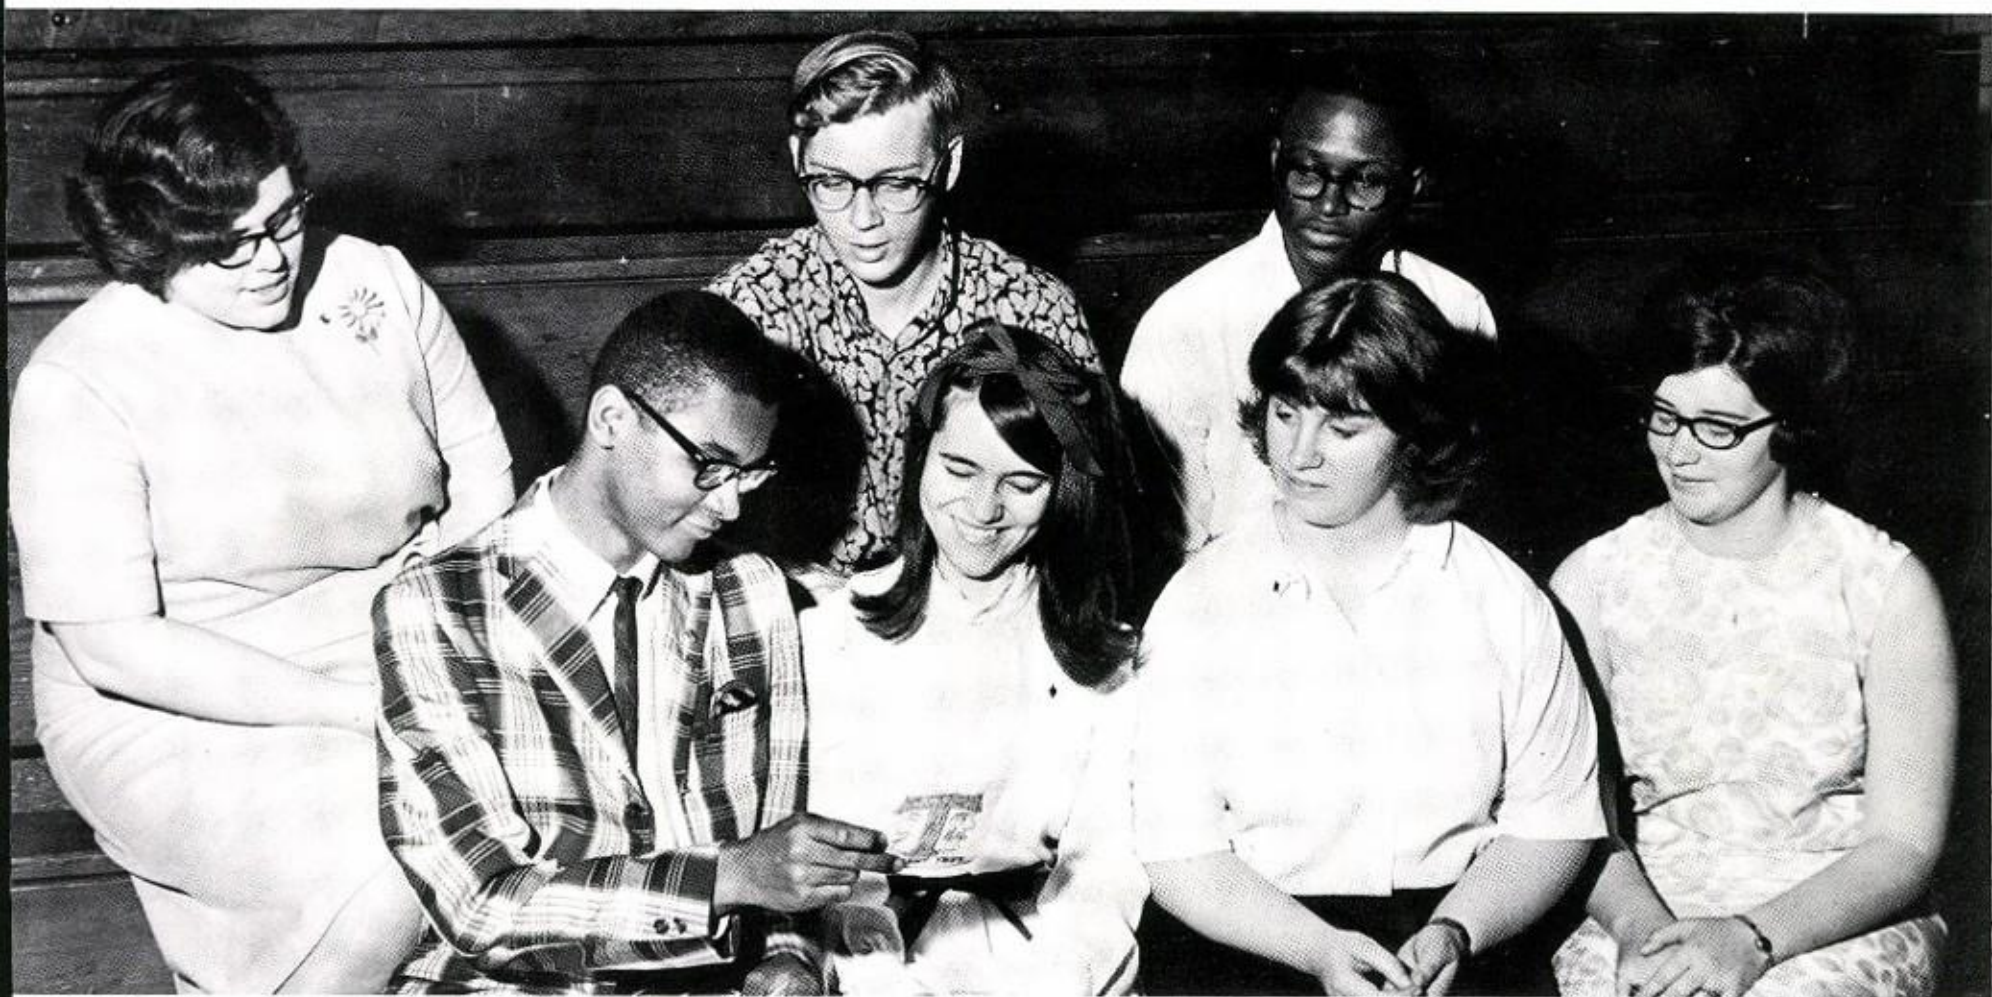

Recipients of girls' sports awards are Linda Gatten, outstanding senior Block "S" member; Bev Wehrs, outstanding, girl gymnast; Marcia Pieffer, outstanding G.A.A. member; and Nancy Parker, outstanding sophomore Block "S" member. Each girl did more than her share and contributed greatly to the success of each group.

Recognition Is Purpose of Awards Assembly

Mr. Bronston presents Robert Griffith his letter for golf as Mr. Blackwood watches at the spring athletic assembly.

Throughout the school year various types of assemblies are presented to the student body. Many of these assemblies provide useful knowledge, while others give the audience a chance to acknowledge outstanding students.

A few of the special assemblies presented were assemblies about optical illusions, Armed Forces, and National Thespians. Other assemblies were those concerning the choice of cheerleaders for the following two years, and the choice of five homecoming queens.

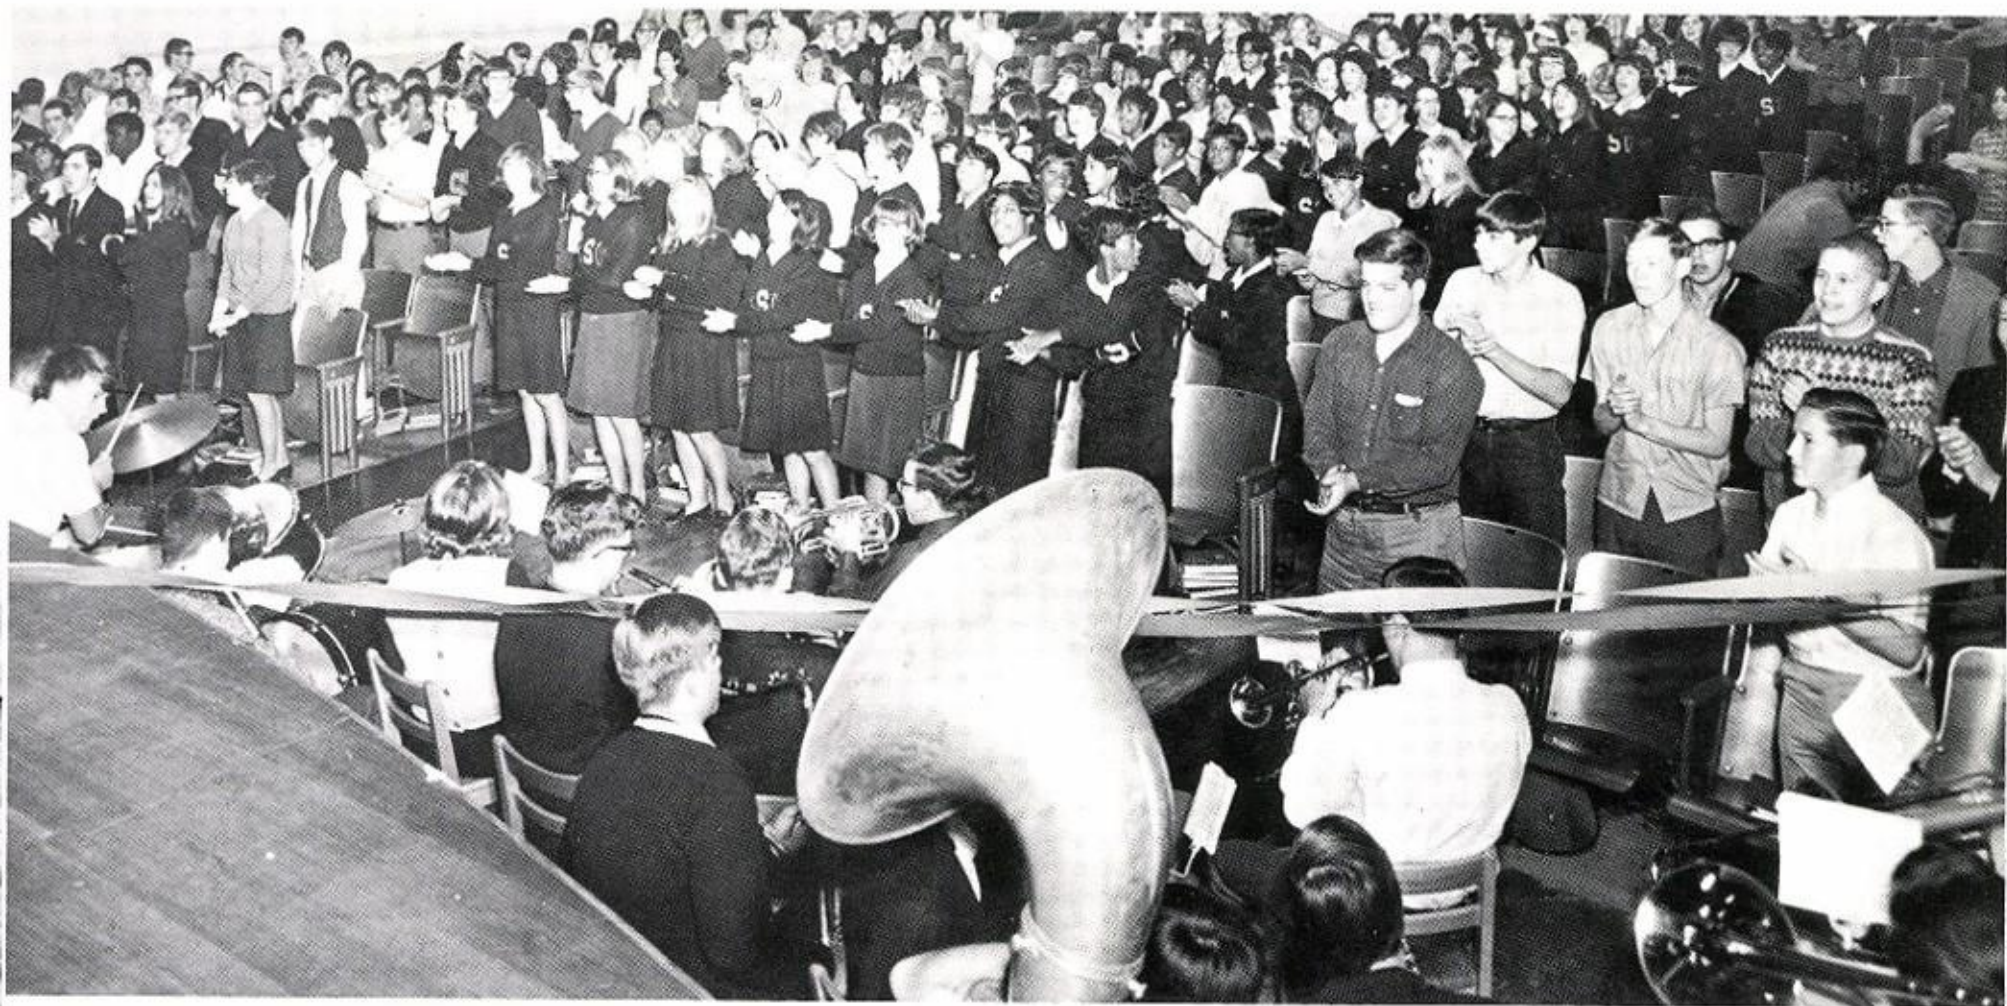

A short preview of each play to be given is usually shown the week of the play. Pep rallies and recognition of athletes are also an important part of the year's assemblies.

Assemblies Give Recognition and Information

At the Awards Day assembly, Mr. Lehn announces another student's name who was outstanding in a specific field of study.

During a pep rally, Block "S", the pep band, and the students enthusiastically cheer the team to another victory.

Mr. Wright congratulates Tyrone Artis for serving South more than 1,000 hours, while the others await their presentation of Star and Chevron awards.

Grace and her customers prepare themselves for the long night ahead.

On November 17 and 18 the Junior Class of South High School presented the play Bus Stop. The drama concerns the lives of eight people who must spend the night at a roadside restaurant because bad weather prevents the bus from leaving.

Grace, the proprietor; Emma, the waitress; Will, the bus driver; the four passengers—Bo, Cherie, Virgil, and Dr. Lyman—spend a long night in Grace's Diner. The two main characters are Bo, a naive country boy, and Cherie, the girl that he has literally abducted and is taking home to marry.

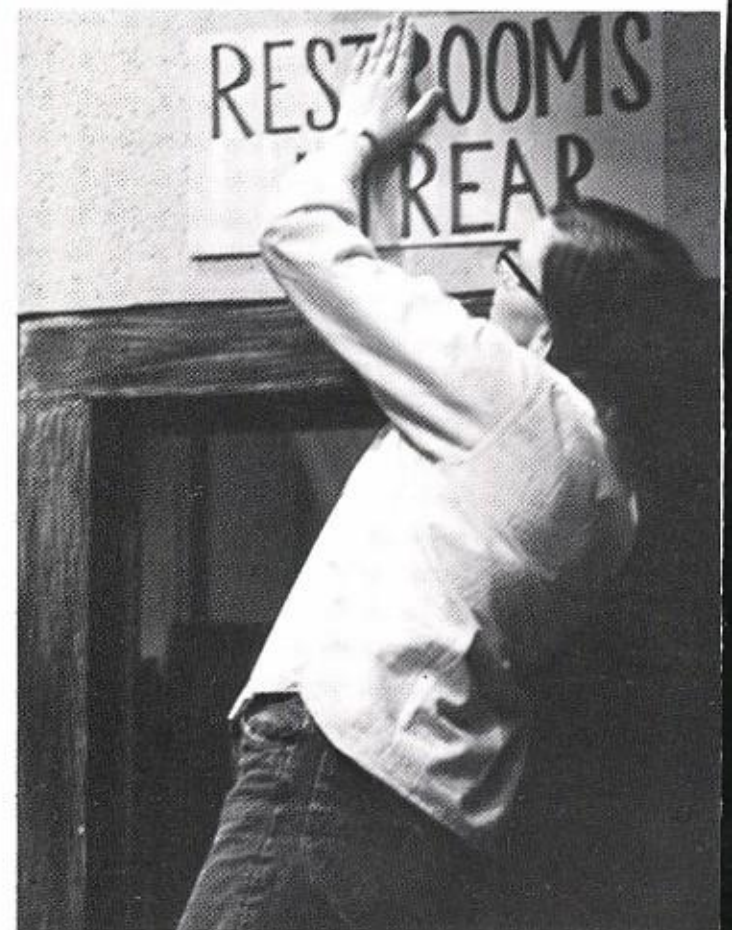

During this night each person's life takes on a new and different meaning. As the bus leaves the following morning, each seems to have gained what he had lost.

The Student Council of South sponsored a "Fun Night" on February 17. Students dressed casually and spent the evening playing games such as volleyball and the "Soul Sit." An "authentic" gypsy was called in to mystify and amaze those who dared to enter her parlor.

This was only the beginning of the exciting activities that awaited those who attended "Fun Night." Although this was the first activity of this kind, the event registered as a success for those in attendance.

On April 26, the Gymkana Troupe presented "Hawaiian Luau" as their 1968 Gymkana Show. The acts included couple stunts, free exercise, tumbling, side horse, and individual performances.

The true highlight of the show was the appearance of George of the Jungle and his girl friend, performed by Gary Johnson and Waleka Hixon. George's escapades made the audience laugh and applaud with approval.

Under the direction of Mrs. Ann Fields and Mr. Richard Dellapina, all the acts were performed with skill and precision to make for an evening of pure entertainment.

"Red Shoes" Presented As 1968 Children's Play

"Red Shoes," presented by Thespians on January 19 and 20, was a play that pleased children of any age. It was sensitive comedy built around an age-old folk tale, telling how a young girl was forced to dance by an evil gypsy.

Karen, an orphan who works for Frau Jorenson and her husband, is put under a magical spell by Snogg and his clown Jemmo and forced to dance in order to make Snogg a rich man.

Snogg and Jemmo kidnap Karen for their evil purpose but are caught by Nels and the Burgomaster. In the end Karen is freed from the spell of the shoes, and they are burned, no more to bring evil to anyone.

Connie Boblitt demonstrates the execution of a cartwheel as fellow dancers watch with approval.

Waiting to begin her second number, Barb Green pauses as the audience finishes their applause.

The 1968 Variety Show, given on April 18 and 19, highlighted the spring season with acts of various kinds. Numerous talents were displayed by many of the students.

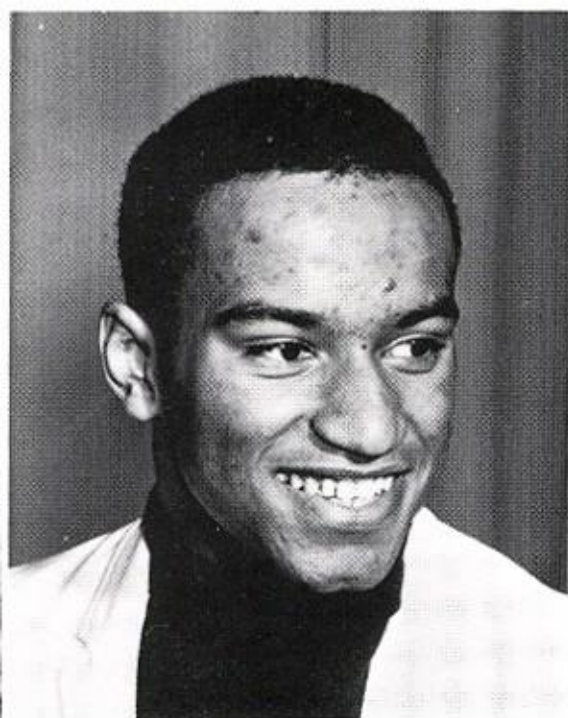

Soloists included Leroi Sutton singing "Scarlet Ribbons," Lynn Jackson singing the theme from "Valley of the Dolls," and Lothar Bergeest singing "The Impossible Dream" and "Softly As I Leave You."

The Luvons, the Backyard Minority, and the Rivas were three groups that added to the evening of entertainment and enjoyment. A folk group made up of senior girls sang "Today" and "Somewhere." The finale, consisting of the boys' and girls' ensembles and all of the performers, sang "A Big Wide Wonderful World."

Senior Class Presents David and Lisa

John (Robert Patton) tries to prove to Lisa (Linda Gatten) that she also has a last name.

The Senior Class of South High School presented David and Lisa on March 22 and 29. The play was executed with many unorthodox but fascinating means of setting and lighting.

David and Lisa deals mainly with two of the students at the Berkley School for the mentally ill, David Clemens and Lisa Brant. David fears that if anyone touches him he will die. The reason for David's psychosis is his disappointment in his parents. Lisa's problem stems from the fact that she is unwilling to accept that she is an orphan. The play shows how David and Lisa's growing affection for each other helps them to solve their problems.

Amid the turbulent emotion of the play, the classmates of David and Lisa provide humor as well as some insight into their own personal problems. Each student and teacher at Berkley gives some new dimension to the problems of the mentally ill.

Generation Gap

The National Thespian Society production of Dear Me, the Sky Is Falling brought to the stage of South High School on May 24 and 25 a light-hearted portrayal of the generation gap. Libby Hirsch is a mother who cannot resist meddling in the affairs of her family. Libby interferes in her sister's life by calling Mildred's estranged husband who takes her out to ask her for a divorce.

Libby at the same time is altering a husband, Paul, who is selling his half of a business. Her new deal is for Paul to buy out his partner.

All of this makes everyone angry, but Libby's biggest mistake is her meddling into the affairs of her daughter, Debbie. When Debbie starts seeing a psychiatrist about her inability to remember the name of her fiancé, Libby immediately sets out to stop her visits. Libby, however, is not content with this; she brings Debbie's old boyfriend, Peter Nemo, back into the house in an effort to show Debbie what she has in her fiancé, Robert.

At the end of her plotting, Libby seems to have lost her family. With the help of the psychiatrist, Libby regains her family, and learns a valuable lesson.

Libby and her husband, Paul, seem to be finally getting together.

Vicki Botkin doesn't seem to be distracted by the fact that Mike Whipp's hair is longer than hers.

The fashion word for 1968 is bold and even fashions for men have taken a turn toward the bright and colorful. For girls the mini skirts are still in, but they are being challenged by the new midi dresses, which are about three inches below the knee.

1968 even brings a change in the kind of games that we play. This year quiet parlor games, such as Monopoly, are out. Twister, Grab-a-Loop, and Tight Squeeze are only a few of the active games which have taken over the party scene.

Wildcat Football Team Posts 3-4-2 Season

The Springfield South High Wildcats posted a 3-4-2 season while encountering one of the hardest schedules ever played by a South High team. The Wildcats made a respectable showing against many top-ranked teams. Under the leadership of Head Coach Lowell Storm, the team had an outstanding defensive record.

Five South High gridders—Tim Gebard, Don Speaks, Mike Miller, Kent Smith, and John Storm—were picked for the all G.O.L. team during the 1967 season.

Cross Country Team Achieves 9-3 Record

South's cross country team enjoyed one of its best seasons, with a 9-3 record in dual meets. Under Coach Richard Dellapina, the team finished sixth in the district.

In the Worthington Invitational, South placed three players each from the tenth and eleventh grades in the top twenty, while Tom Daniels was the only senior who placed in the top twenty.

In the Mt. Healthy Invitational South finished tenth in a field of twenty-seven, with Lou Skinner finishing twentieth among the 156 runners.

n Springfield Relays

This year's relays were conducted in the shadow of Mr. Paul Walters' announcement that this would be the last year for the Springfield Relays under the sponsorship of Springfield North and South High Schools. The reasons given for the cancellation were lack of response from AA and A teams, and financial difficulties.

South finished the Relays' twentieth outing by receiving first place in the AA class. A fitting close to the last relay was this victory and the memory of the first victory run twenty years ago, which South also won.

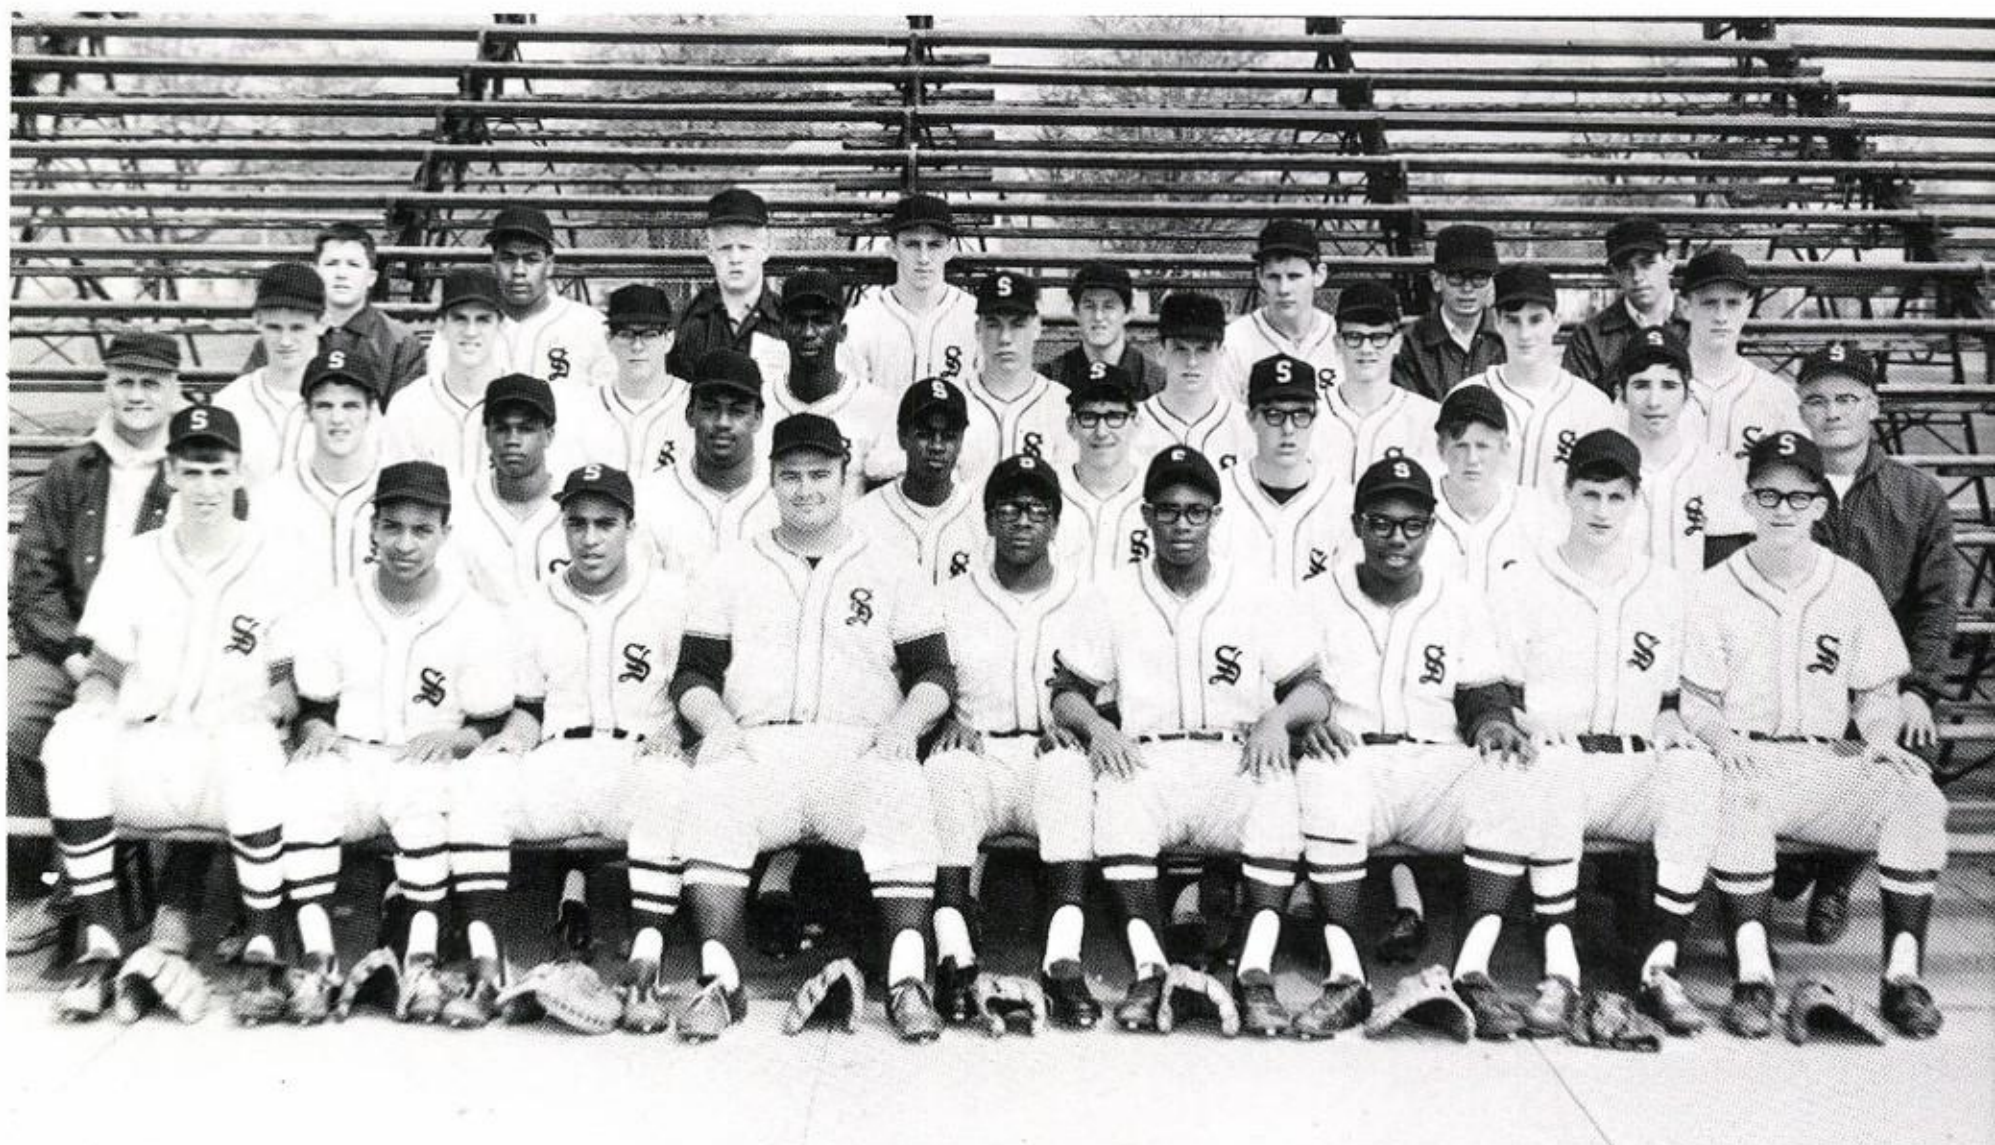

Next year the relays may be run under different sponsorship, thus eliminating the financial burden that the schools would carry and creating more prizes and fields to enter.

While a few team members watch, Gary Turner practices throwing the shot.

It's another first for South as Ron Humphrey crosses the finish line.

The executive board of Block S listens attentively to the plans of their advisor, Mrs. Vicky Saunders. Members are Henrietta Edwards, Julie Cutshall, Karen Hunt, Susie Calabrese, Roxie Swope, and Linda Gatten.

Block S, the foundation of school spirit at South High, attends all home games and all away G.O.L. league games. During the year Block S does many things to raise funds in order to finance their attendance at the games, by selling night shirts, baked goods and candy.

Advised by Mrs. Vicky Saunders, the one hundred girls add a little extra excitement and spice to the football and basketball games.

Another basket and an exuberant Block S provides a necessary spark for a lively game.

Neysa Stephens returns the volleyball in hopes of getting the game point.

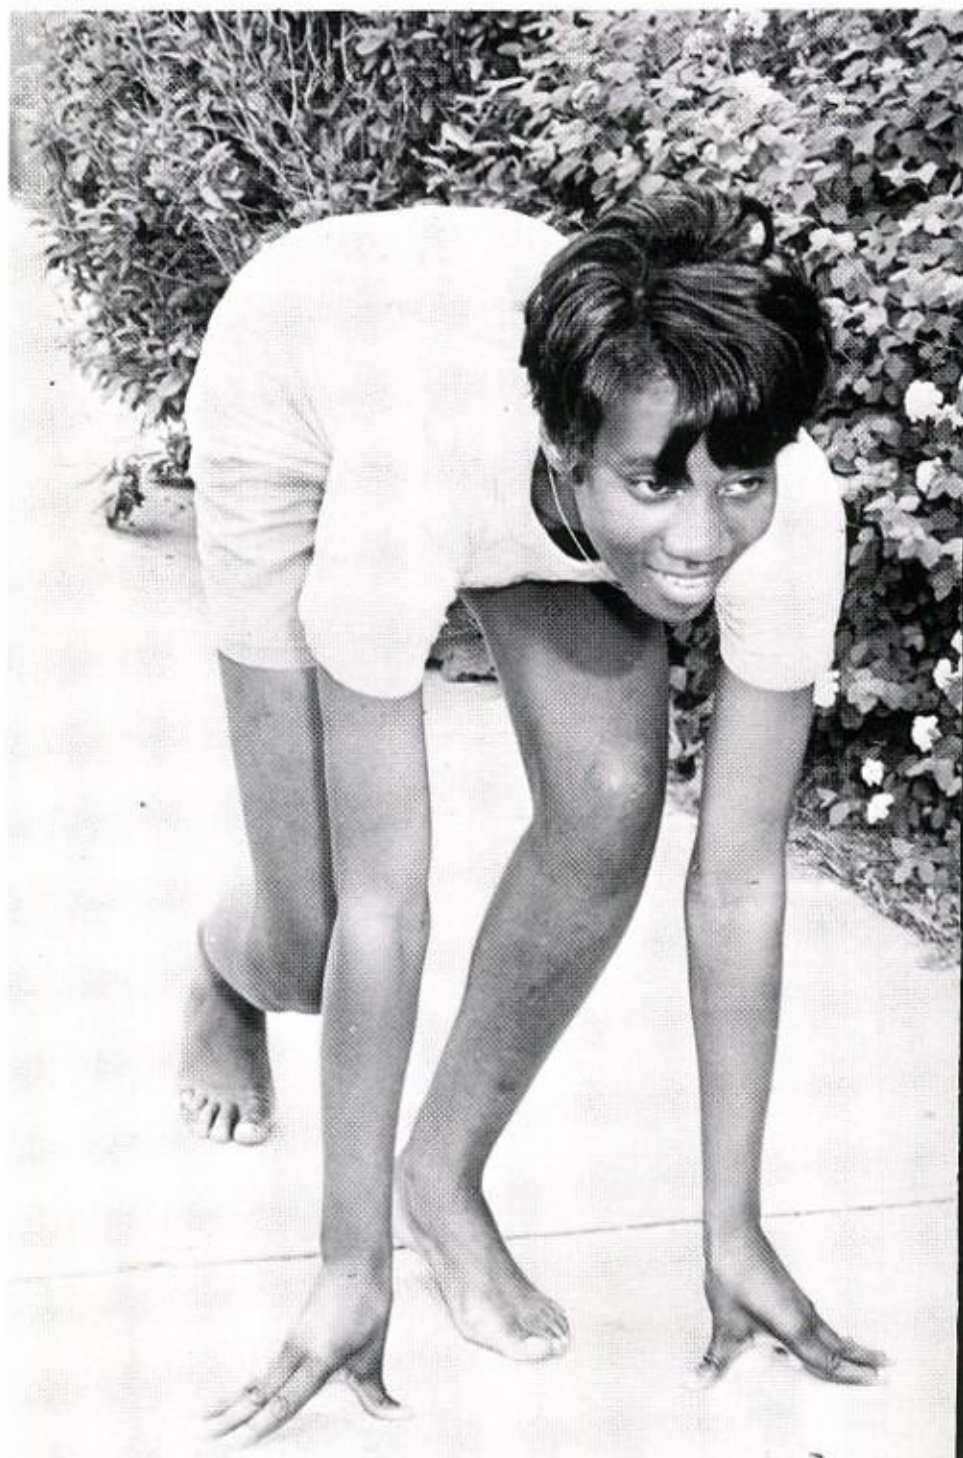

The members of G.A.A. not only enjoy the fun of participating in sports but also gain new friendships and good sportsmanship. Good physical and mental health are promoted, and leadership and spirit are thrown in for good measure.

In G.A.A. a girl learns to be with everyone, not just of her own class, but with sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Since G.A.A. is the only activity in which a girl can win a letter, the three years are used to earn a minimum of 125 points and the letter. If the senior gains 25 additional points, she is awarded her numerals. The senior girl with the highest accumulation of points is awarded a silver tray.

G.A.A. is to girls as the interscholastic sports, such as basketball and football, are to boys. This is the only sports program open to girls at South.

Mary Edwards is "on her mark", as she participates in G.A.A. track.

Fun — a Vital Part of G.A.A.

Sheila Nolan patiently awaits her turn, as partner Nancy Parker returns the opponents' serve.

Femininity blooms the night of the G.A.A. initiation and awards banquet. The officers for 1967-1968 are: Katie Morean, secretary; Linda Gatten, sergeant-at-arms; Krista Jones, chaplain; Marcia Pieffer, president; Linda Earnhardt; vice-president; Beverly Wehrs, sports director; and Vicki Reynolds, treasurer.

G.A.A. Encourages Fitness

G.A.A. builds skill, co-ordination, and self-confidence as shown by Jeanne Thompson on the balance beam, a part of G.A.A. apparatus.

Basketball is a sport that demands accuracy, and Barb McLean shoots for the point and the game.

G.A.A. strives to present a well-rounded sports program that not only promotes physical activities, but also good sportsmanship.

The competitive spirit is cultivated, and everyone, whether a winner or a loser, gains something from the various sports. Learning to get along with people is a vital part of life and of G.A.A.

and Femininity

By appearance, femininity is the farthest thing from Kirby Kellar's and Linda Gatten's minds, but judo is a sport that requires co-ordination, and leverage; and someday it may help out in a tight spot.

Tony Brown, senior class president, addresses the class of '68 at the Class Night banquet.

This was the scene in the cafeteria at

Class Night I

Top honors went to these highest ranking graduates. FRONT ROW: Janice Carter, Susie Calabrese, Paula Westfall, Kirby

Class Night banquet honoring the class of '68.

Class Night, the last social event for the class of '68, was held on May 6. The seniors were honored with a banquet and a program in which many awards were presented.

Altogether there were 63 honors distributed among 49 seniors. A total of $58,000 in grants and scholarships was announced.

The high spot of the evening was the balloting of class favorites in a variety of categories.

"Preparation Today—Success Tomorrow" was the optimistic motto for the class of 1968.

Last Social Event for Class of '68

Winners of the Class Night balloting are, FRONT ROW: Rosemary Hunter, most talented girl; Lynn Jackson, most beautiful girl; Roger Watson and Sharon Aldridge, most devoted couple; and Linda Gatten, most active girl. ROW 2: Tom LeWitt, most handsome boy; Nataline Settles, girl most likely to succeed; Beverly Wehrs, best girl athlete; and Tony Brown, best-liked boy. BACK ROW: Leroi Sutton, most talented boy; Dorothy Parker, girl class wit; Jerome Dailey, boy most likely to succeed; Shanna Horne, best-liked girl; and Tom Daniels, most active boy. ABSENT: Kent Smith, best boy athlete; and Garfield Parker, boy class wit.

June 6, 1968, was truly a time of mixed emotions. The graduating senior feels a sense of excitement about the future, and expresses remorse after his last year in high school. This year's 606 students graduated from Springfield South are typical of other high schools in that they felt both a sense of elation and sorrow.

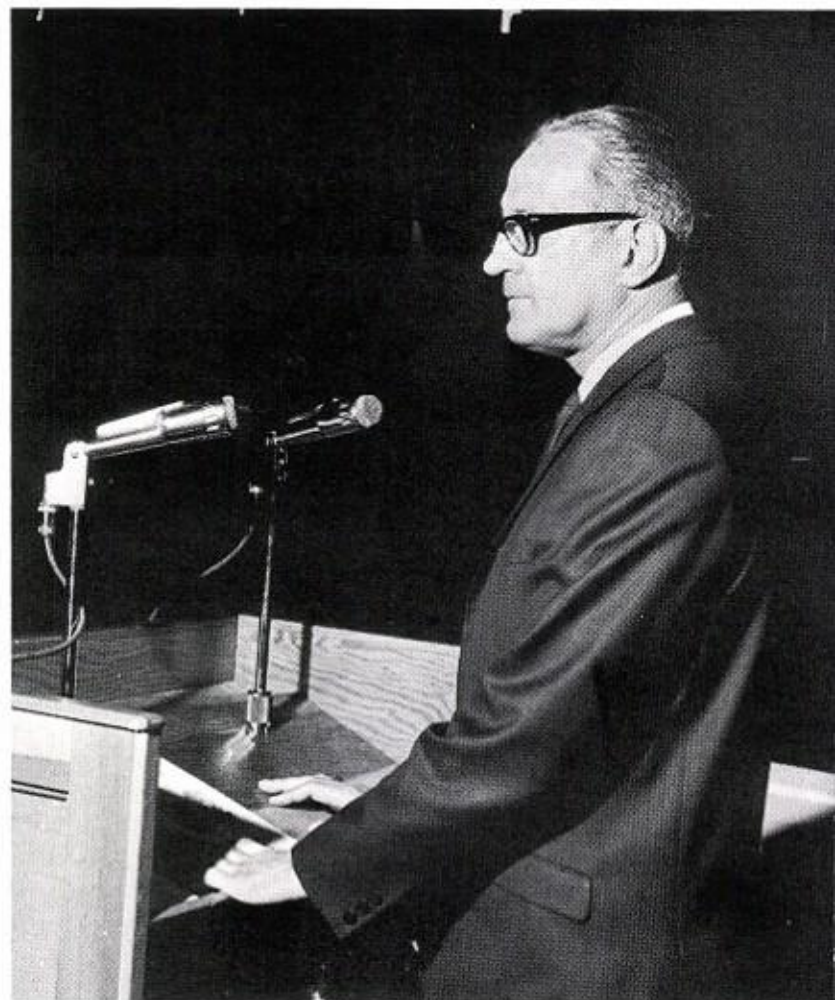

Nick Lubbers, Francis Handling, Connie Bennett, Delores Handling, and Dennis Wriggins appear relaxed before their commencement exercises.

Henrietta Edwards gratefully accepts her diploma from Mrs. Levine, vice-president of the Springfield Board of Education.

Graduation: A

Mr. Keck, president of the Board of Education, emphasizes the role an education plays in future success.

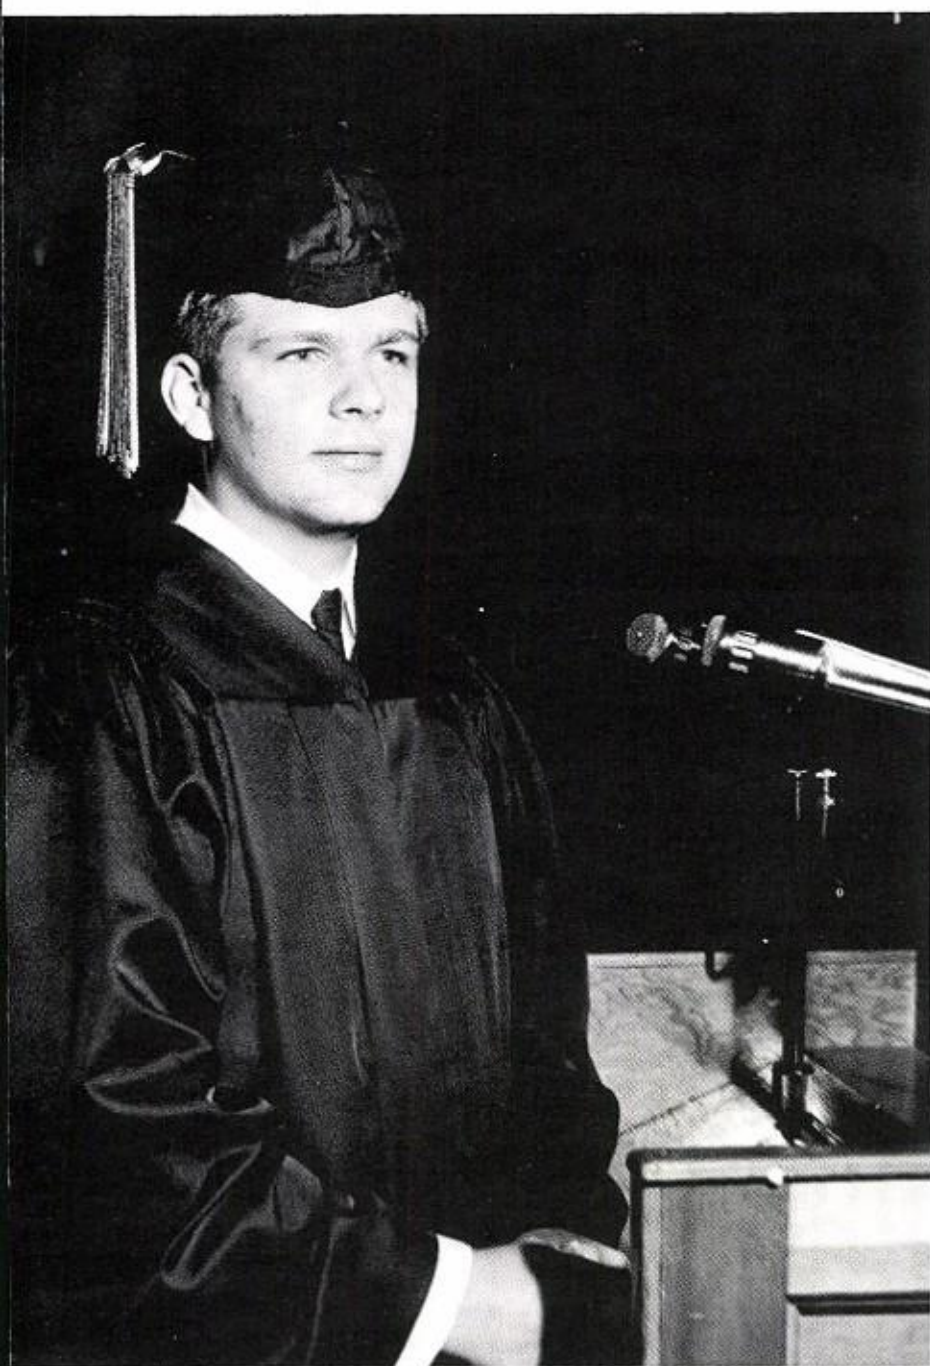

A majority of saddened faces are shown in the graduating class of 1968.

Time of Mixed Emotions

David Gentry, one of the student speakers, selected as his topic "Dreams."

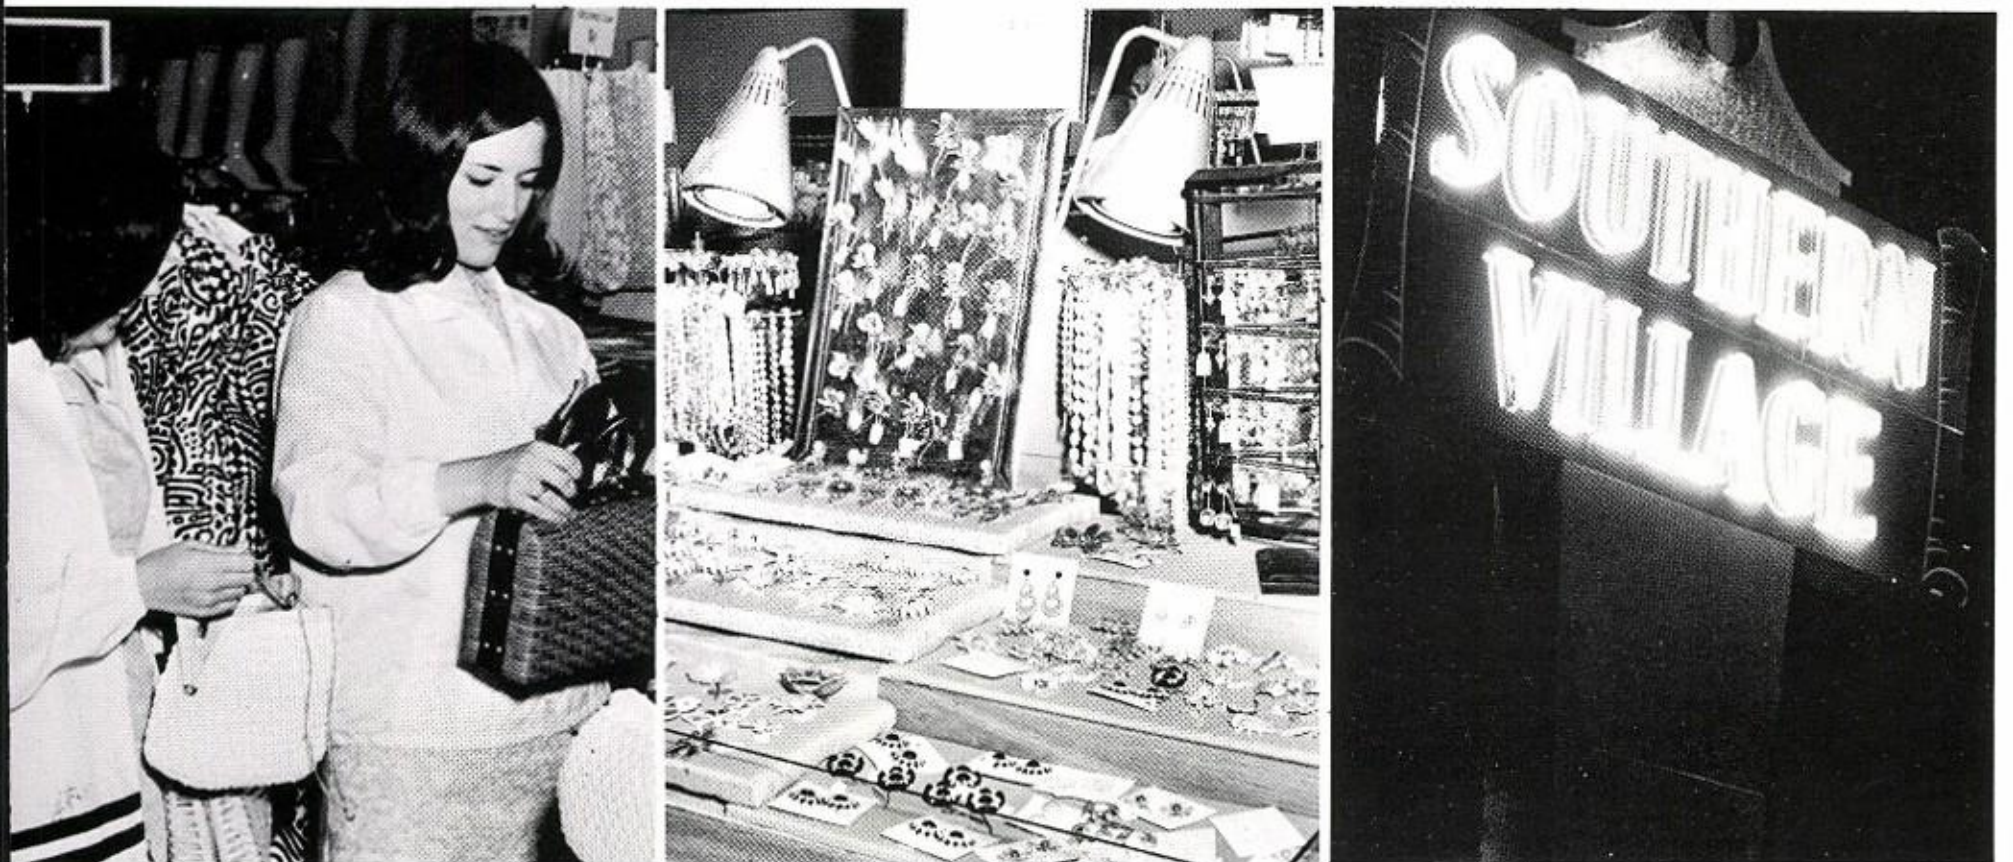

Nataline Settles' topic, "Progress Pusher," was devoted to the obtainment of human understanding.
